For

The President of Iran

Mr. Mahmoud Ahmadinejad

& His Cabinet Minister's

& Senior Staff

Regarding the Failed "False Flag Terrorist Attack" in American by the United States of America using a contractor hired by the CIA working in Pakistan.

Dear Mr. President

Please find enclosed a copy of this "Special Report" written for You, Your Cabinet Ministers and Your Senior Staff in your Office.

Allot has been said about an attack upon Iran by Israel, USA, England and France to name a few puppet countries under the Zionist control.

Please see enclosed information about a plan gone wrong by the Americans

This should serve as a warning Israel, England, America and NATO plan to attack your country and take control of the Oil & Gas supplies for the sheer greed of International Zionist Bankers and the Oil Companies.

Mr President

You are not playing 3 Piggies here with Mr. Wolf Huffing and Puffing threatening to blow down your house, as you read this, the above people are not joking now they mean business.

Which part of it don't you understand?

They will invade and attack Iran its only a matter of time, which they are trying to set up the cover story which will be sold to the populations in all the above countries.

Please Read The Enclosed Information / Plan Gone Wrong

- 1) Raymond Davis was a contractor working for the CIA he was caught by the Pakistani Police for killing two Pakistani's.
- 2) But read his real Mission there in Pakistan, he was to find some Patsy hand them over Nuclear Weapons Material & Biological Weapons.
- 3) Then they would let off 1-2 Nuclear Weapons in the USA
- 4) These Patsies would get the blame and the Media would be given a script to repeat on TV that they were either "Al Qa`eda or Pakistani Taliban
- 5) The Patsies under interrogation would then swear they were given all the Materials by Iran and paid to do the Attacks in America by Iran.
- 6) The American Zionist Controlled and Western Media would then repeat the Official story line Iran supplied the Materials and every Media Outlet, Media Commentator and Politician would call for an Immediate Attack upon Iran.

By sheer luck?

By the Grace of God?

By sheer coincidence?

Raymond Davis was caught by the Pakistani Police and NOT by the Pakistani Military or ISI because they would just of handed him back to the Americans.

By this Operation going sour and Raymond Davis being caught it has now set their plans 1-2 months behind, they have to come up with another cover story to sell to the populations of the countries above.

As you will read and see President Barrak Obama & Hilary Clinton Secretary of State were in on the plans and operation, because they both tried to lie their way out and get Raymond Davis released.

The American Embassy helped two of Raymond Davis mates, helpers get away out of the country back to America.

Do you now understand how serious America, England, Israel and NATO are at attacking and invading Iran and over throwing You, Your Government and taking control of Iran Oil & Gas supplies?

These mongrels straight from the bowels of hell are willing to kill their own people in COLD Blood, so that it can then be blamed upon Iran and be used as an excuse to invade Iran.

The attack upon Iran can be stopped but you need to do the following: -

- 1) Support small groups like ours and help with funding so we can get the Truth out to people all about the World what is going on.
- 2) You need to call an immediate United Nations Address meeting with every country about the World present, and show them this evidence enclosed of what America, Israel, England and NATO countries were going to do try and start WW111 by letting of 1-2 Nuclear Weapons in America and the Americans killing their own people so they could then used as a pretext to start War on Iran

The people of the World and America need to know how evil their politicians and Government is that they would kill their own people in COLD BLOOD to push an agenda, plan, goal, ambition.

People of the World have to know this information within

- 3) Copies of this information need to be made, 200 – 300 copies and given to every member country of the United Nations and show how evil, corrupt and what Cold Blooded Killers America and Israel are.

Unless you follow the instructions above, these people have won, it will only be a matter of time before the attack upon Iran starts and remember if they do attack Iran they plan to use Nuclear Weapons and every Weapon imaginable.

The people of the World need to know how allot of Leaders in Western Countries are all smiles on the outside but sheer evil inside.

You are not just working for the Iranian people now but for all people about the World to help us get rid of these evil bastard Zionist which have taken control of most Western countries

Yours Truly

Nuclear Attack In America

“The Weapon/s Are Already In Place Ready To Go”

From The Desk of: - Middle East & Washington Desks

South East Asia News.org, Would like to be the first Independent Alternative News Agency to report the up coming “Nuclear Attack In America”

The weapon/s are already in place and ready to go off, all it needs is for the ground work and cover story to be laid, this cover story will then be feed to the Zionist Controlled Mainstream Media to sell the story to the American population and people of the world, without even asking 1 question.

Prime Ministers & Presidents
Foreign Ministers
Defense Ministers

In most puppet USA & Zionist Controlled Western Country's will also sell the cover story to their Cabinets, Parliaments and population, just like they did for the “False Flag Terrorist Attacks” on.

11th Sept 2001 Terrorist Attacks
Bali Bombings 2002
London Bombings 2005

And the many other “False Flag Terrorist Attacks” & “Fake Terror Warnings Released” & “Fake Bin Laden Video Tapes Released” since Sept 11th 2001 Attacks.

Which we have exposed along with some other Internet News Sites

If there is a God either him or coincidence or sheer good luck has stopped the planned Nuclear Attack in America from going ahead, NO thanks to the Mainstream Media either for alerting people to the truth also.

It would seem their cover story went down in a big heap with the Pakistani Police catching this CIA Spy Raymond Davis, right in the middle of carrying out his assignment during its operation.

We are so lucky the Pakistani Police caught this guy and not the Pakistani ISI or Pakistani Military because they would just hand him back straight to the Americans.

So it would seem where we are at now the Nuclear Weapon to be used has already entered the USA, but now the USA and Israel have to prepare the cover story, so the busting open of this operation has put them 1 – 2 months behind schedule.

I would like everybody to take note, how the American controlled and paid for CIA, FBI, and US Military instead of stopping any attack from going ahead are working flat out to make an attack happen.

So not only are we the people of the world dealing with corrupt politicians who have sold their souls and are controlled puppets of the USA & Israel.

Who in turned are controlled by the Zionist Wall Street and London Bankers, but also by Big Corporations, Media Companies and hard core, evil, hateful Zionist Organizations around the world, and behind the scenes Zionist Bankers who control most western countries Federal Reserve Banks.

So instead of the Police, CIA, FBI, US Military and other Police, Intelligence Agencies and Military's in western countries protecting the country and people from an attack, they are working hand in hand with the above, as the above controllers have all their people in positions leading these agencies.

Anyway onto the evidence and proof of what I am talking about, the following is a collection of three – four articles all joined together they tell the bigger story and exposes the operation in play.

"CIA spy" Davis was giving nuclear bomb material to Al-Qaeda, says report

<http://theintelhub.com/2011/02/16/fbi-says-there-is-a-100-chance-of-wmd-attack-just-days-after-san-diego-nuke-story/>

Double murder-accused US official Raymond Davis has been found in possession of top-secret CIA documents, which point to him or the feared American Task Force 373 (TF373) operating in the region, providing Al-Qaeda terrorists with "nuclear fissile material" and "biological agents," according to a report.

Remember how only a few days ago the FBI was quoted as saying there was a 100% chance a nuclear bomb would be set off inside the United States by "Al Qaeda?"

<http://theintelhub.com/2011/02/16/fbi-says-there-is-a-100-chance-of-wmd-attack-just-days-after-san-diego-nuke-story/>

Easy prediction to make when you know the CIA is giving "Al Qaeda" the fissile material and biological weapons!

Do you grasp what is going on?

The CIA uses a Blackwater contract agent to approach "Al Qaeda" or any convenient dumb-ass patsy and gives them the key ingredient to make a nuclear weapon.

Plus they garnish it with some biological weapons as an added bonus.

Then the public is fed a story about how nuclear weapons may already be inside the United States via the port in San Diego, to make the subsequent blast explainable.

This is 9-11 all over again.

The government of the US and Israel is desperate to kick off WW3 before the global revolution comes to their doorsteps.

They are cornered, and nothing is more dangerous than a cornered government willing to use a nuclear weapon on their own people.

This is not science fiction.

This is not a movie fantasy about a man in a Guy Fawkes mask.

This is the real deal!

The United States Government got out of the crash of 1907 by getting into WW1.

The United States Government got out of the crash of 1929 by getting into WW2.

Here we are in the throws of the crash of 2007 (which according to the FCIC did not even have to happen, were it not for Wall Street's criminality and government complacency) and look ... how ... hard ... they ... are ... trying ... to ... start ... world ... war ... three!

And the only one who can stop this insanity is you!

CIA Operative Ray Davis Released From Pakistan

Ray Davis has been pardoned in Pakistan after payment of compensation to victims' families, according to Sky News.

Pakistani TV says Davis has been flown to London.

CNN says he remains in Pakistan, but the families have declined to press charges (via @mpoppel).

Davis paid $2.34 million in blood money, according to Breaking News.

EARLIER: Pakistan has indicted CIA contractor Raymond Davis on two counts of murder, according to police officials (via Andrea Mitchell).

This will further complicate efforts by the U.S. to get Davis out of the country.

On Monday Pakistan's high court declined to intervene in Davis' case, leaving a local court to decide whether he has diplomatic immunity.

Davis is accused of shooting two armed men when they approached his car in Lahore.

Hillary Clinton Denies Paying "Blood Money" To Pakistan To Buy Release Of CIA Operative

Sometimes you have to just go out there and /i.e. It's part of the job.

Today, Secretary of State Hillary Clinton denied that the United States paid "blood money" to the families of the two men who were shot dead by CIA operative Raymond Davis in Lahore, Pakistan roughly two months ago.

Technically, of course, Mrs. Clinton is probably telling the truth.

The United States almost certainly did not write a check to the families.

The Saudi Arabian government probably covered the cost.

But let's get real.

We cut a deal with the Pakistani government to secure Davis's release.

Part of the deal was "blood money" to the "victims'" families.

David Ignatius explains how the deal went down.

The blood money deal to release CIA contractor Raymond Davis

CIA contractor Raymond Davis was released from a Pakistani prison today, thanks to the Muslim ritual known as "blood money."

Next, Pakistan and America will try to clear away some of the bitterness aroused by the case and establish a better relationship based, as President Obama likes to say, on "mutual interest and mutual respect."

The CIA and its Pakistani counterpart, the Inter-Services Intelligence Directorate, are planning to do just that.

A Pakistani says the goal is "new rules of engagement."

A U.S. official says they will discuss "the contours of the relationship."

For both sides, it represents an attempt to rebuild trust after weeks of bitter accusations following the Jan. 27 arrest of Davis for killing two Pakistanis in Lahore.

In Pakistan's tribal culture, "blood money" payments are seen as a face-saving way of resolving bloody disputes.

I described the blood money approach in a March 2 column , after interviews on Feb. 28 with U.S. and Pakistani officials.

This deal had four principal architects: Hussein Haqqani, Pakistan's ambassador to Washington, who shared the "blood money" idea with Sen. John Kerry, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Kerry then traveled to Pakistan, where he met with President Asif Ali Zardari, with the leaders of the Punjab government that was holding Davis, and with top officials of the ISI.

Haqqani also visited CIA Director Leon Panetta the evening of Feb. 28 to share the "blood money" idea with him, according to a U.S. official.

The final details were worked out by Panetta and ISI Director-General Ahmed Shuja Pasha.

U.S. and Pakistani sources said the process that led to Davis's release Wednesday included a series of steps: First, the U.S. agreed to pay compensation to the families of the two Pakistanis Davis killed on Jan. 27.

A Pakistani lawyer quoted by the Associated Press said the total payments amounted to $2.3 million.

Another Pakistani source told me the payments were less than $1 million for each family.

According to a U.S. official, the actual negotiations were conducted by Pakistanis, but the U.S. has agreed to pay the bill.

After the families reached the private financial agreement and formally forgave Davis, the settlement was recognized by the trial court in Punjab, which could then dismiss the murder charges under what is described as a standard process in Pakistani murder cases.

With the murder charges dismissed, the Punjabi court resolved lesser charges against Davis, and he was freed.

An important aspect of the settlement, for the U.S., was that the principal of diplomatic immunity was never formally challenged in Pakistani courts.

The Pakistani High Court refused to rule on the question and the trial court didn't make a finding, either.

That was crucial for the U.S., which feared that a legal challenge to its claim of immunity for Davis would expose hundreds of other undercover agents around the world who rely on the legal protection of their formal status as "diplomats."

The final piece of the settlement may be the most complicated.

Pakistani officials say discussions will begin soon with the CIA about the "rules of engagement" in Pakistan.

"If it's a CIA operation, the ISI needs to know," explained one Pakistani official.

The CIA has a roughly similar policy of "declaring" its personnel and operations with some other countries with which it has close intelligence ties, such as Britain, France, Israel and Jordan.

A U.S. official confirmed that the CIA is planning to discuss the "contours" of the relationship, but he said there was no formal "quid pro quo."

This official explained that the CIA "is always willing to discuss Pakistani concerns and work them through."

ISI Emerges As Winner In The Raymond Davis Face-Off

The ISI, Pakistan's intelligence agency, emerged the winner in the show-down over the fate of CIA operative Raymond Davis.

The US position was that Mr. Davis was in Pakistan on a diplomatic passport, that he enjoyed all the privileges of that status and that the charges of murder lodged against him (he shot two Pakistanis, he says, in self-defense, which is almost certainly true) were therefore null and void.

The ISI had Mr. Davis arrested, kept him incarcerated for nearly two months, refused to recognize his diplomatic status and finally forced the US to settle the case according to the dictates of "Sharia law."

That required the US to pay the victims' families over $2 million, plus provide them with safe passage to America, new identities and housing.

It is widely assumed that if the families of the "victims" had stayed in Pakistan, they would have been killed by radical Islamists for agreeing to the arrangement that freed Mr. Davis from prison.

Officially, Pakistan gets nearly $2 billion annually in foreign aid from the US. And that figure is the public number.

The actual number is much higher.

How it is that the American government can get jerked around by a government that enjoys such vast US support is a mystery.

But that's what happened.

Families of Two Men Shot By Raymond Davis: Coming To America!

This just in from the Express Tribune:

Initial media reports surrounding the release of Raymond Davis suggest that the families of the victims killed in the Lahore shooting have left the country on a second plane.

Their neighbours say they haven't seen the families in two days and that their homes are empty and locked.

Sources say an aircraft carrying more than 10 people left Lahore airport and is headed to Bagram Air Base in Afghanistan.

They also say the families have been given Green Cards and homes in New York state and Washington DC.

Raymond Davis

On January 27, 2011, a US citizen claiming to be working as a consultant at the U.S. Consulate in Lahore, and later said to be a CIA operative, killed two armed men in the Pakistani city of Lahore.

The identification papers he submitted to the Pakistani police are in the name of Raymond Allen Davis, although initially it was categorically stated by the US State Department that this name was not correct.

He is now facing two separate criminal charges, one of double murder and the second of illegal possession of a firearm.

Two petitions seeking prosecution against him on charges of forgery for obtaining a visa under a fake name have also been registered with the Lahore High Court.

The incident led to a diplomatic furor and deterioration in the ties between Pakistan and USA.

The US government claimed that Davis is protected by diplomatic immunity under the Vienna Conventions and has demanded that he be released from custody immediately.

The Foreign Minister of Pakistan Shah Mahmood Qureshi said that according to official records and experts in the Foreign Office, Davis is "not a diplomat and cannot be given blanket diplomatic immunity".

It has been suggested that Qureshi's stand on the issue led to him losing the Foreign Affairs ministerial post.

The incident also led to widespread protests in Pakistan demanding action against Davis.

US president Barack Obama asked Pakistan not to prosecute Davis and treat him like a diplomat and said "There's a broader principle at stake that I think we have to uphold."

The Pakistani Foreign Office stated that "this matter is sub judice in a court of law and the legal process should be respected."

The American focus has been on the claimed diplomatic status.

Pakistani media and officials dispute the claim of immunity from a murder charge, allege that Davis was involved in clandestine operations and question the scope of Davis' activities in Pakistan.

Almost a month after the incident, U.S. officials admitted Davis was a contract employee of the CIA after this was reported in The Guardian.

Davis has also been shown to be an erstwhile employee of security outfit Blackwater Worldwide (presently called Xe) and was a member of CIA's Global Response Staff, who assist case officers when they meet with sources.

His two victims are also reported to be operatives of Pakistani Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI).

An ISI official has made a statement saying that Davis had contacts in the tribal regions along the Afghanistan border and already knew both the men he shot.

He said the ISI is investigating the possibility that the encounter on the streets of Lahore stemmed from a meeting or from threats to Davis.

Data retrieved from Davis' phones and GPS device has been to Islamabad, Lahore, Peshawar and some tribal areas of the country, areas that have been the subject of US drone attacks.

These attacks were interrupted for several weeks after Davis' arrest. On February 28, DawnNews reported that law enforcement agencies arrested 45 individuals in Pakistan for staying in constant contact with Davis.

Other media reported at the same time that at least 30 suspected covert American operatives have suspended their activities in Pakistan and 12 have already left the country.

Incident

Davis has said in his written statement that the incident happened when he was coming from the Embassy.

The police report states that the GPS record shows he actually was coming from his private residence at Scotch Corner, Upper Mall.

Davis stated that after withdrawing cash from a bank cash machine, he was driving alone in his white Honda Civic and had stopped at a traffic light near Qurtaba Chowk in the Mozang Chungi area of Lahore when two men pulled alongside him on a motorbike.

After one of the young men allegedly brandished a pistol, Davis opened fire and killed both of them with his own 9mm Glock pistol.

Davis claimed to the police his actions were in self-defense.

The police have stated no eyewitness have supported Davis' claim that any of the deceased men pulled a pistol on him.

Police reported that "Faheem's gun contained no bullet in the chamber – meaning it could not have been cocked."

"When Davis fired at Faizan and Faheem, they were sitting on their bike in front of his car with their backs towards Davis, which meant that they were not in an attacking position and the claim of self-defence is false".

Davis' weapon was not licensed.

The two men on the motorcycle were stopped at the light in front of Davis' car. Davis shot them through his windshield.

After the shooting, Davis is alleged to have exited his car to take pictures and videos of his victims with his cell phone.

Faizan Haider was still alive at the time. He later died in hospital.

Another version of events is that Davis shot five rounds through his windshield, got out of his vehicle and shot four more rounds into the two men as they lay on the pavement.

The Police report says that witnesses saw Davis fire at Faizan Haider at a time when he left the motorcycle and ran to save his life.

Davis himself also admitted that he fired at Faizan from the back when he was running.

Davis then radioed for backup whereupon four American men in a Toyota Land Cruiser Prado with fake registration plates (LZN-6970), attempted unsuccessfully to reach the scene.

The driver of the Prado jumped the median on Jail Road, traveled against the oncoming traffic and ran over and killed a motorcyclist later identified as Ebadur Rehman.

Without stopping, the vehicle fled the scene and rushed to the consulate, jettisoning items outside Faletti's Hotel.

Police say they included four magazines containing 100 bullets, various battery cells, a baton, scissors, a pair of gloves, a compass with knife, a black coloured mask/blindfold, and a piece of cloth bearing the American flag.

Davis attempted to escape the scene of the shooting in his vehicle but was apprehended by two traffic wardens at Old Anarkali Food Street in Anarkali Bazaar, where he was handed over to police.

Footage of him attempting to drive through the gathered crowd and escape has been shown on Pakistani television.

People gathered at the scene later blocked the roads and burnt tires in protest of the incident.

Later, the demonstrations moved to the police station where Davis' car had been impounded.

According to news sources, items recovered from Davis' car included a Glock handgun, GPS equipment and an infrared light, telescope, a flashlight that attaches to a headband, a large number of cellphones, including at least one satellite phone, a collection of batteries, buckets of bullets, both for the Glock and a Beretta allegedly used by Davis to kill the two motorcyclists, and a quantity of M-16 shells.

Police report that the bullets were high-powered killer projectiles not allowed in many countries.

There were military-grade knives, wires, and a surprising array of high-capacity magazines for the handguns.

Also found was a camera loaded with pictures of dozens of madrassas (religious schools) and other buildings around Lahore.

Pakistani media have also reported, that Davis also carried multiple ATM and military ID cards and what was described as a facial disguise or makeup.

The Pakistani official said Davis also carried identification cards from the U.S. consulates in Lahore and Peshawar but not from the embassy in Islamabad.

Victims

The three victims are identified as Faizan Haider (aged 22 years) and Faheem Shamshad (a.k.a. Muhammad Faheem aged 26 years) who were both shot, and Ibad-ur-Rehman (who was due to be married in two months time) who was run over.

One of the victims that was shot died on the spot and the other succumbed to injuries at Services Hospital, Lahore.

The motorcyclist that was run over by the American-driven vehicle, identified alternatively as Ubaidur, Abdur or Ibad-ur Rehman, was also rushed to the same hospital in a critical condition, but could not survive due to excessive bleeding.

Police confirmed that the two men that were shot by Davis, were carrying sidearms but that no shots were fired from these weapons.

It is disputed whether the firearms were licenced or not. A senior police officer has said that Haider had a criminal record and was previously involved in dacoity.

But neighbours, friends and family of the young men deny any criminal records or illegal activity.

The two victims were reported to have been carrying two cellphones they had allegedly stolen earlier in the day, three other cellphones, a Rolex-style watch, and four different types of currency.

The police officer in charge of the investigation, Zulfiqar Hameed, was initially reported as having said that eyewitness testimony suggested that they were trying to rob Davis.

But later press statements from the Lahore Police Chief, Aslam Tareen explain that Police rejected Davis' plea of self-defence precisely because of eye witness statements.

Police Chief Tareen, describing the shooting as "a clear-cut murder," explained that the self-defense plea "had been considered but the eyewitnesses, the other witnesses and the forensic reports, ...showed that it was not a case of self-defense."

After the incident multiple Pakistani officials told ABC News that both the victims were working for Inter-Services Intelligence and were following Davis because he was spying and had crossed a "red line".

This was initially denied by US officials.

The Express Tribune also reported that the two dead motorcyclists were intelligence operatives quoting a Pakistani security official who requested not to be identified since he was not authorized to speak to the media.

Pakistani officials alleged that Davis had traveled to Waziristan and met with some people without the approval of ISI and therefore was being followed in an attempt to intimidate him.

Davis alleged that the victims were trying to rob him but the police delayed registering cases against Haider and Shamshad.

On February 6th Shamshad's widow, Shumaila Kanwal, committed suicide after taking poisonous pills, fearing that Davis would be released without trial, police and doctors said.

The third third man was later killed "in a hit and run" when a car driven by Americans, reportedly sped down the wrong side of the road on its way to aid the American shooter.

CCTV footage of the damaged vehicle after its fatal collision with Mr. Rehman have been shown on Pakistani television.

The US vehicle that killed motorcyclist Rehman carried fake number plates.

Investigations have revealed that the car number was actually registered in the name of Sufi Munawwar Hussain, a resident of Sahiwal district in Punjab province.

Pakistani officials believe the vehicle's occupants were also CIA because they came from the same suburban house where Davis lived and were heavily armed.

The US refused Pakistani demands to interrogate the two men and the men have left the country.

ABC News reported that the men had the same diplomatic visa as Davis.

Reportedly, the driver and occupants of this vehicle were secretly transported to Afghanistan by road and from there were flown to the US.

Regarding the legal status of those involved, it has been suggested that the driver and occupants of the SUV are now runaway offenders and that Carmela Conroy, Consul General in Lahore comes under the felony of harboring the accused, refusing to hand them over to police and then facilitating their escape.

Diplomatic status

The US government claims that Davis is a diplomat and should not have been arrested or be prosecuted under Pakistani law because he has diplomatic immunity under the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations.

The Convention lists cases not covered by immunity in article 31.1. The Punjab authorities (the province in which Davis was arrested) claim that Davis was not on a diplomatic visa but on an official business visa.

The US and Pakistani governments do not agree as to Davis' legal status in Pakistan at the time of his arrest.

According to US officials even though senior Pakistani officials believe in private that Davis has diplomatic immunity the government appears to be unwilling or unable to enforce the protocol.

A senior Pakistani official, Information Secretary of the PPP Fauzia Wahab was forced to resign her post after she made statements saying she believed Davis did have diplomatic immunity.

Her comments were swiftly dismissed as personal views by a presidential spokesman and a contempt of court petition has been filed against her in the Lahore High Court (LHC).

In two articles appearing in a Pakistani newspaper called The Express Tribune, the precise status of Davis's and the American Government's claim of immunity has been examined by Najmuddin Shaikh, a former Pakistani diplomat.

He wrote that the question of diplomatic immunity depends on whether Davis was on the staff of the 'consulate' or the 'embassy' as the privileges and immunities of each are very different.

If Davis was on the staff of the 'embassy' Shaik points out that the question of immunity would depend upon whether Davis was in Mozang Chowrangi in the 'course of his duties' and who should decide that.

Article 37 of the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations provides that Embassy administrative and technical staff are subject to the civil and administrative jurisdiction of the receiving state, but enjoy the unlimited immunity from criminal jurisdiction provided by Article 31.

Writing for Counter Punch, the journalist Dave Lindorff has written "in other words, the prosecutorial, police and judicial authorities in Lahore and the state of Punjab are doing exactly what they are supposed to do in holding Davis on murder charges, pending a judicial determination concerning whether or not he can properly claim diplomatic immunity.

The US claim that Pakistan is violating the convention is simply nonsense."

Davis in the mobile phone video of his interrogation did not claim that he had a diplomatic rank, but rather that he was "doing consulting work for the consular general, who is based at the US consulate in Lahore."

In the video, Davis is heard and seen showing several ID badges around his neck, and states that one is from Islamabad, and one is from Lahore.

He then adds, "I work as a consultant there".

According to USA Today "U.S. officials in Islamabad will say only that he was an American Embassy employee who was considered part of the 'administrative and technical staff'."

This contradicts Philip Crowley's earlier statement and Davis' own initial statement to the police that Davis "was an employee at the U.S. Consulate".

Davis was not one of the embassy employees listed on January 25, 2010, two days before the incident. However, a revised list submitted a day after the incident on Jan 28 carried his name.

Pakistani officials believe that his name was missing from the Jan 25 list because at that time he was assigned to the consulate general.

It has been assumed that he was put on the list given subsequently so that he could benefit from Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations 1961 instead of 1963 Convention on Consular Relations that have a narrower scope in terms of immunity.

A former British diplomat has listed the five circumstances in which Davis might have diplomatic immunity.

They are these.

- 1) He was notified in writing to the government of Pakistan as a member of diplomatic staff of a US diplomatic mission in Pakistan, and the government of Pakistan had accepted him as such in writing.
- 2) He was part of an official delegation engaged in diplomatic negotiations notified to the government of Pakistan and accepted by them.
- 3) He was a member of staff of an international organization recognized by Pakistan and was resident in Pakistan as a member of diplomatic staff working for that organization, or was in Pakistan undertaking work for that organization with the knowledge and approval of the Pakistani authorities.
- 4) He was an accredited diplomat elsewhere and was in direct transit through Pakistan to his diplomatic posting.
- 5) He was an accredited courier carrying US diplomatic dispatches in transit through Pakistan.

The former diplomat went on to write that information from senior Pakistani ex-military sources is firmly that the necessary diplomatic exchange of notes does not exist that would make Davis an accredited US diplomat in Pakistan, but that the US State Department is putting huge pressure on the government of Pakistan to overlook that fact: "if the documents did exist Clinton would have waved them at us by now."

However, the U.S. Department of State maintains that the formal notification provided to the Pakistani government on January 27, 2010 that Mr. Davis was a member of the Embassy's administrative and technical staff was sufficient to convey immunity and there is no requirement under international law that the Pakistani government provide any acknowledgment or acceptance of the same.

False Name Implications

Official testimony by Philip J. Crowley, Assistant Secretary of State, on January 27th stated that the person involved in the Lahore "incident" was not named Raymond Davis.

Crowley, in two Department of State briefings to the press, categorically stated that the 'Davis' name was "incorrect".

It was not until February 11th, fifteen days after the incident, that the US embassy in Pakistan first referred to the arrested US citizen as "Raymond Davis" in its Press Release.

It originally referred to him only as "a staff member of the U.S. Consulate General" and then falsely referred to him as "a U.S. diplomat" in three further official press releases.

On the basis of Crowley's statement Najmuddin Shaikh, (former Pakistani Ambassador to the US) has argued that a person having made a false visa application, holding a passport in a false name and having entered the country illegally, will have a visa that was never valid and therefore cannot claim diplomatic immunity by these means.

Further, a local barrister Iqbal Jafree has submitted to the Lahore High Court that the accused obtained a fake diplomatic visa with a false name and that no immunity obtained fraudulently is valid.

Christopher King, a retired lecturer from London has written: "Curiously, I have never seen this vital fact, which destroys all claim by the US to Davis's diplomatic status, mentioned in any US or British news report."

Davis' background

On February 9, an article on the website of WCYB in Bristol, Virginia stated that he graduated from Powell Valley High School in Big Stone Gap, Virginia in 1993.

The alumni page of the high school includes a Raymond Davis who graduated in that year.

Davis reportedly has previous US Special Forces experience, having spent 10 years in the military, beginning with basic training at Fort Benning, Georgia, in 1993, a six month period of service with the United Nations Peacekeeping forces in Macedonia, then time with the 3rd Special Forces Group at Fort Bragg, and leaving the military in 2003.

He runs Hyperion Protective Consultants, LLC based in Orlando, Florida, a company that specializes in providing "loss and risk management professionals".

Subsequent investigations have revealed Hyperion exists only as a web site.

According to at least one article, Hyperion is based in Nevada. He has also been identified as a former Blackwater Worldwide contractor.

On February, 2, 2011, about a week after the shooting, an article appeared in the Denver Post saying that Raymond Davis lives in Highlands Ranch, Colorado, and had previously lived in Las Vegas, Lexington (Kentucky), Vail (Colorado), and Fort Bragg (North Carolina).

Davis' activities in Pakistan

It is alleged that following his arrest, the police recovered photographs of sensitive areas and defense installations from Davis' camera, among which included snapshots of the Bala Hisar Fort, the headquarters of the paramilitary Frontier Corps in Peshawar and of Pakistan Army's bunkers on the Eastern border with India.

The Government of Punjab considered Davis a security risk after the recovery of the photos. Prosecutors also suggested that Davis be charged with espionage.

Many analysts believe Washington halted the CIA drone attacks in Waziristan, which had been occurring at the average rate of two to three per week since 2008, stopped after Raymond Davis was arrested.

There were no reported drone attacks from January 23, four days before the Raymond Davis incident, until 21st February.

When arrested Davis was carrying a 9mm gun and 75 bullets, GPS equipment and an infrared light, telescope.

Aftermath

The Government of Pakistan is under extreme pressure from the United States to release Raymond Davis.

News reports indicate that the Pakistani Embassy in Washington was cut off from all communications with the United States Department of State over this issue.

Diplomatic notes were sent by the US Government to Pakistan's Foreign Office urging it to grant diplomatic Immunity to Mr Davis.

A delegation of the United States House Committee on Armed Services conveyed a veiled threat that Pakistan-US defense cooperation could be under cloud if the standoff persisted on the issue of immunity for Raymond Davis.

In another incident, an ABC News reported that to Pakistani officials claimed that the Pakistani ambassador to the U.S. Husain Haqqani received threats from the US National Security Advisor Tom Donilon of being removed if action was not taken on the Davis case.

Haqqani however categorically denied the allegation. According to the same report, Donilon also warned of US consulates closing down in Pakistan and an upcoming visit by President Zardari to Washington being rejected.

On February 1, 2011, a petition brought by Pakistani lawyer Saeed Zafar was ruled upon by Lahore High Court Chief Justice Ejaz Ahmed Chaudhry where an order was issued to put Davis' name on Pakistan's Exit Control List in order to restrain him from being handed over to US authorities.

According to Pakistan's DawnNews a probe had revealed that a GPS chip recovered from Davis was being used in identifying targets for drone attacks in the tribal region.

The News International reports that top Pakistani Foreign Office officials allege that Pakistan's President, Asif Ali Zardari asked the Foreign Office in categorical terms that Davis should be given diplomatic immunity and for this purpose, the Foreign Office should immediately issue a backdated letter notifying Davis as 'member of staff member of the US embassy, in Islamabad. Former foreign minister Shah Mehmood Qureshi refused, saying Imran Khan, a former cricketer and the founder and chairman of Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (Movement for Justice, a small opposition party), said, "The people don't trust the government any more.

It has time and again proven that it lies to its public," and he has said he believes that it is only proper that Davis be tried before local courts, so that Islamabad's role, if any, also be brought to light.

Khan also believes that if Davis is simply handed over to Washington, "no one will accept the [immunity] verdict and it will lead to anti-Americanism and increase extremism in Pakistan."

In a statement, the Pakistani Taliban warned the government against releasing Davis.

A spokesman for the Taliban said "If (Pakistani) rulers hand him over to America then we will target these rulers.

If Pakistani courts cannot punish Davis then they should hand him over to us."

The Guardian reported U.S. censorship of U.S. media in that "A number of US media outlets learned about Davis's CIA role but have kept it under wraps at the request of the Obama administration."

Colorado station KUSA censored an online report indicating Davis worked for the CIA when the station "removed the CIA reference from its website at the request of the US government."

Continuing developments

On February 7th, Shumaila Kanwal, the widow of Muhammad Faheem who was shot dead by Davis, committed suicide.

On February 8, Barrister Iqbal Jafree filed a petition to the Lahore High Court claiming Raymond Davis is not the real name of the accused, and that the accused should be tried for forgery.

The petition also asserts that a forged passport cannot be the basis for immunity from prosecution.

On February 12th Philip J. Crowley the US Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs announced that trilateral meetings between US, Afghan and Pakistani officials to be held on February 23 and 24 were postponed due to political changes in Pakistan.

On February 14th, it was reported that a Pakistani federal minister close to President Asif Ali Zardari told a journalist "We are not in a position to oblige the US because this matter is now sub judice and the Lahore High Court has included the name of Raymond Davis in the Exit Control List.

If we do anything in violation of the court orders, then the court will summon us for contempt and we are sure that the people of Pakistan will come out on the road against us and our fate will be worse than Hosni Mubarak."

On February 15th Senator John Kerry arrived in Pakistan in an effort to secure release of Davis.

He was expected to use his personal contacts in Pakistan to get this done.

On February 16th a writ petition was filed in the Lahore High Court by Advocate Muhammad Azhar Siddique requesting a judicial inquiry into the alleged tampering, manipulation and forgery of the record of immunity maintained by the ministry concerning the Davis case.

Previously the Lahore High Court had demanded clarification from the federal and the provincial governments regarding the unverified visa of Raymond Davis.

Barrister Iqbal Jaffery mentioned twice that the visa of Raymond Davis was unverified and a case has been registered against the officials of the Pakistan Embassy for negligence.

On February 16th DawnNews released an image of a US government pay stub document which appears to show that Raymond Davis is not a member of the diplomatic or consular staff but is a permanent employee of the US Overseas Protective Security Services.

On February 17th a Pakistani court delayed a decision on whether Davis has diplomatic immunity until the 14th of March.

"As the deputy attorney general has requested three weeks to submit a reply on the status of Raymond Davis, the case is adjourned until 14 March," news agency AFP quoted Lahore High Court Chief Justice Ijaz Mohammad Chaudhry as saying.

On February 18th a Pakistani judge ordered the arrest of the driver of the vehicle which ran over and killed Obaidur Rahman.

Authorities in Punjab said they sent five letters to the U.S. Embassy asking that the driver and vehicle be handed over, but reportedly received no response.

On February 19th, American television carried news that Davis' colleague, the driver who ran over and crushed Pakistani citizen Mr. Rehman to death and sped away without stopping, had safely reached America.

On February 21st the US administration admitted that Davis was a CIA operative following the publication of this fact in the British newspaper The Guardian.

A number of US media outlets followed and admitted that they had also learned about Davis's CIA role but had kept quiet at the request of the Obama administration.

"We knew early on" said Dean Baquet of the New York Times.

Salon.com's Glenn Greenwald has criticized this complicity with the US government in concealing information: "It's one thing for a newspaper to withhold information because they believe its disclosure would endanger lives," Greenwald wrote.

"But here, the U.S. Government has spent weeks making public statements that were misleading in the extreme — Obama's calling Davis 'our diplomat in Pakistan' — while the NYT deliberately concealed facts undermining those government claims because government officials told them to do so.

That's called being an active enabler of government propaganda."

On February 23rd, former foreign minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi spoke to the Pakistani National Assembly to reiterate that the issue of Raymond Davis was mishandled.

And while he stopped short of naming anyone, he said he knew who had mishandled it.

On Friday February 25th the murder trial of Davis started. The press and public were excluded from the hearing in Kot Lakhpat jail.

He refused to sign the challan (case papers) when they were presented to him, and instead submitted an official letter from the US embassy and said: "According to this letter, I enjoy complete immunity under the Vienna conventions and my detention in jail as well as this trial is illegal."

As no lawyer appeared in the court on behalf of the accused, the judge asked him to engage an attorney for his defense.

The judge adjourned the hearing till March 3rd.

FBI Says There Is A 100% Chance of WMD Attack Days After San Diego Nuke Story

Just days after Al Hallor, San Diego assistant port director and an officer with Customs and Border Protection, admitted that weapons of "mass effect" had entered a port somewhere in the San Diego area, Dr. Vahid Majidi, the FBI's assistant director in charge of the FBI's Weapons of Mass Destruction Directorate has stated that there is a 100% chance of a WMD attack in America.

Speaking to Newsmax, Dr. Majidi seemed eerily sure of an imminent attack in America.

"The notion of probability of a WMD attack being low or high is a moot point because we know the probability is 100 percent," Majidi says.

"We've seen this in the past, and we will see it in the future. There is going to be an attack using chemical, biological or radiological material."

With documented evidence that Al Qaeda was created by western intelligence and that the FBI has literally given lone wolf terrorists multiple bombs, the idea that the assistant director in charge of the FBI's Weapons of Mass Destruction Directorate is openly declaring a WMD attack will happen should raise alarms throughout America.

While Majidi did say terrorists would most likely employ chemical, biological, or radiological weapons rather than a nuclear device, the idea that a major nuke could go off in an American city is nothing new.

On February 9th, ABC 10 News in San Diego interviewed Al Hallor about security issues at a San Diego Port. Hallor then went on to drop a bombshell, admitting that an unnamed government agency had recovered a weapon of mass effect in the last year.

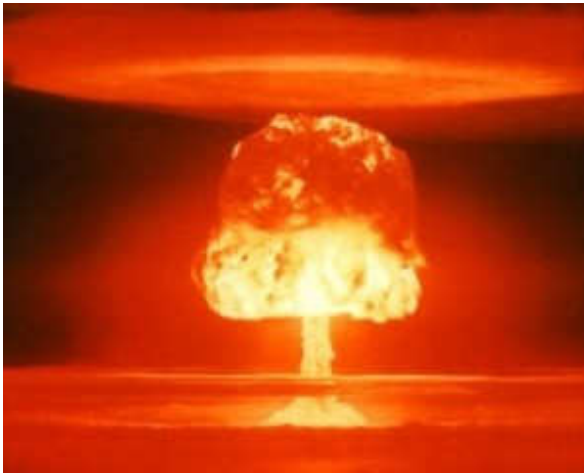

Since the first report and our story, "San Diego Port Officer Says Nukes Have Been Found In An American Port," Fox News and multiple other major outlets have ran a watered down version of the original story.

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xKb9AFrbRmE&feature=player\_embedded

The rumors of missing nukes, illegally transported on a B-52 from Minot AFB to Barksdale AFB in Louisiana, have lent credibilty to the fact that rogue elements within our government and the Israeli government are planning some sort of nuclear "False Flag."

In early August, Gordon Duff writing for Veterans Today warned of a possible nuclear attack which involved Israel, Pakistan and Iran.

"The National Research Council, part of the National Academy of Science, heavy on politics and light on science, announced that America was no longer able to track nukes threatening our shores.

Their report titled Nuclear Forensics: A Capability at Risk, released last week, outlines the details of a secret study requested by the Departments of Homeland Security, Defense and Energy, specifically the National Nuclear Security Administration."

Essentially the report highlighted the fact that if a nuclear bomb was detonated we would be unable to tell who made it.

"Another piece of the puzzle involved a federal task force, Defense, Energy, FBI, descending on a warehouse in Greenfield, Indiana under the guise of a "records search."

This "Waco style" assault on a facility storing furniture for college dorm rooms was much more than it seemed.

No case, criminal or civil, provided any underlying reason for the search," wrote Duff.

Similar to the months leading up to 9/11, the public is being conditioned to accept the fact that a nuclear or biological weapon of mass destruction WILL go off in an American city in the very near future.

This is absolutely unacceptable considering Homeland Security is installing a police state throughout America yet somehow cannot stop cave dwelling ninjas?

GORDON DUFF: FALSE FLAG NUKE ATTACK ON U.S. JUSTIFIED...."KING'S TORAH"

This week, the last piece fell into place.

The National Research Council, part of the National Academy of Science, heavy on politics and light on science, announced that America was no longer able to track nukes threatening our shores.

Their report titled Nuclear Forensics: A Capability at Risk, released last week, outlines the details of a secret study requested by the Departments of Homeland Security, Defense and Energy, specifically the National Nuclear Security Administration.

The gist of the story is easy, if a nuke goes off in America, dirty nuke in Times Square, one in a container at a port, anywhere, America won't be able to tell who made it.

Not a word of the report is true.

It is wild speculation and disinformation written in broad language with no hard science, written for a reason.

A powerful group within the United States, one with influence over the press and the ability to derail an investigation as was done with 9/11, has been “tasked” with laying the groundwork for a terrorist attack on America, one using nuclear material.

This report, unneeded, and highly inaccurate was printed in the New York Times to provide “cover.”

It isn't just this report, the pieces are falling together around the world.

The Wiki-Leaks story, pre staging Pakistan's ISI as a terrorist organization, a story built out of almost no information but fleshed out with massive speculation by “operatives” in the press is part of the process.

The Defense Authorization Act of 2006 allows, “in case of a terrorist attack” for the president to declare martial law, disband congress and rule by executive decree.

With the suspension of habeas corpus by the Military Commissions act, also in 2006, America as we know it officially comes to an end the second a weapon of mass destruction is used.

Only then will America learn who has been pulling the strings all along, who is scripting Wolf Blitzer and Glen Beck.

British Prime Minister David Cameron's attacks on Pakistan, made from New Delhi last week, seen by most as a serious political blunder, are part of the narrative.

We will get to more background on a younger David Cameron later.

Another piece of the puzzle involved a federal task force, Defense, Energy, FBI, descending on a warehouse in Greenfield, Indiana under the guise of a "records search."

This "Waco style" assault on a facility storing furniture for college dorm rooms was much more than it seemed.

No case, criminal or civil, provided any underlying reason for the search.

Further, the bizarre tale of rumored missing nukes, illegally transported on a B-52 from Minot AFB to Barksdale AFB in Louisiana, a major Defense Department scandal, is meant to create, not only fear and doubt, but "plausible deniability" if a weapon is exploded inside the US.

These, however, are not, by far, the only missing nuclear weapons America has to fear as we will get into later.

Two recent attacks, the "Times Square Fizzler" and the Detroit "Crotch Bomber" were both amateurish affairs except for a couple of things.

Both perpetrators had strong ties to Israeli organizations, one actually employed by an Israeli-American financial firm, the other the son of Israel's primary partner in their defense industry complex in Nigeria.

None of this was reported or investigated once discovered.

It was shoved under the rug immediately.

When cursory investigations of both suspects showed travel histories only possible with significant help from an intelligence agency, both stories disappeared from the news entirely.

It is as though everyone involved vanished from the face of the earth like the second person arrested in Detroit or the "well dressed Indian" who aided the "Crotch Bomber" onto the plane in Amsterdam.

LEGAL JUSTIFICATION FOR ATTACKS ON GENTILES

Conservative interpretations of Jewish law, currently being used to justify resettlement of Palestinians and even total removal of all non-Jews from greater Palestine and adjacent areas have long been used to justify acts such as the attack on the USS Liberty, bombings of US facilities in Egypt and, less openly, "false flag" terror attacks attributed to Muslims but performed by Israeli security forces.

Rabbi Yitzhak Shapira and Rabbi Yosef Elitzur, seen as the ethical conscience behind the Netanyahu government have taken the following position as reported by Jonathan Cook:

"In the 230-page book, Shapira and his co-author, Rabbi Yosef Elitzur (The King's Torah, currently Israel's best selling book) argue that Jewish law permits the killing of non-Jews in a wide variety of circumstances.

They write that Jews have the right to kill Gentiles in any situation in which "a non-Jew's presence endangers Jewish lives" even if the Gentile is "not at all guilty for the situation that has been created".

THE KING'S TORAH, ISRAELI "BEST SELLER" JUSTIFIES TERROR

The book sanctions the killing of non-Jewish children and babies: "There is justification for killing babies if it is clear that they will grow up to harm us, and in such a situation they may be harmed deliberately, and not only during combat with adults."

The rabbis suggest that harming the children of non-Jewish leaders is justified if it is likely to bring pressure to bear on them to change policy.

The authors also advocate committing "cruel deeds to create the proper balance of terror" and treating all members of an "enemy nation" as targets for retaliation, even if they are not directly participating in hostile activities." (False Flag Terrorism)

This rationale allows deadly force to be used against Christians if their deaths advance the cause of Israeli security even if only through economic profit.

Thus, if an attack such as 9/11 were to lead to America fighting wars against enemies of Israel or if, as in Afghanistan, Israeli companies were to profit from weapons or narcotics sales, any deaths of gentiles, no matter how innocent, would be justified by Jewish law as stated in the Torah.

Were an attack on the United States to bring that country to war against Iran, even if that attack were perpetrated by Israelis, it would be legal according to Israeli law, the same law being relied upon for justice in the attack on the Mavi Marmara.

More often however, attacks on Israel itself are believed to have been staged, not only to instill the population with fear and rage but to continue the "holocaust" tradition of Jewish victimhood as a justification for policies that have led to 62 vetoes in the United Nations by the US, vetoes against sanctions imposed against Israel for violations of international law.

We expect increased attacks on Israel, quickly tied to Hezbollah and Iran, attacks that will either involve no casualties or the deaths of either foreign workers or Russian emigres.

This pattern has been used repeatedly, such as the March 18 "attack" killing a lone Thai "guest" worker time to coincide with the visit of the European Union's high commissioner for security, Catherine Ashton, a critic of Israel's apartheid policy in Gaza.

On a side note, 400 children of "guest workers" are being expelled from Israel this week.

Eventually all will be expelled, guilty of destroying "the Jewish character" through lack of "racial purity."

When the US and Israel released Sharam Amiri, alleged Iranian nuclear scientist, we learned one thing.

There is an inventory of Muslims, perhaps arrested, perhaps kidnapped, maybe lured into custody, rendition, imprisonment or "cold storage," whatever you want to call it.

Each one has an elaborate "legend" built around them, describing them as a "lone gunman" or "terrorist mastermind."

This is the group that will supply the names and photographs we will see after the next terror attack.

As Wayne Madsen described to us this week, this was the process the CIA and Mossad used to create Osama bin Laden from nothing.

The organization we know of as Al Qaeda is, in itself, a false creation, an invention initially to serve as terrorist when we needed them and as enemies when we needed them too.

"Press clips gathered by the CIA and discovered in the National Archives' stored CIA files point to an agency keenly interested in any leaks about the highly-classified CIA-Mossad program to establish Osama Bin Laden and the most radical elements of the Afghan Mujahidin as the primary leaders of the anti-Soviet rebels in the 1980s.

WMR [Wayne Madsen Report] has pored through the CIA files and a complicated picture emerges of America's and Israel's top intelligence agencies, in cahoots with Saudi Arabia, establishing financial links and carve out intelligence programs to provide manpower and financial support to Bin Laden and his allies in Afghanistan.

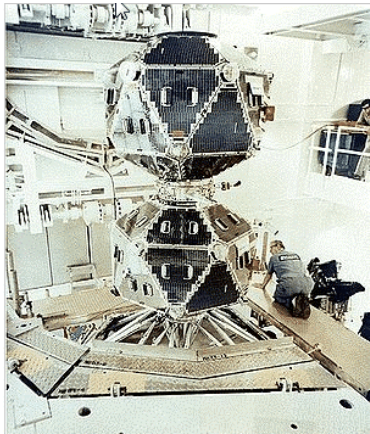

It was these very elements that later created the so-called "Al Qaeda," which the late British Foreign Secretary Robin Cook described as nothing more than a "database" of CIA front organizations, financial supporters, and field operatives.

However, one component omitted by Cook in the Al Qaeda construct is the Israeli participation."

A pattern of evidence is emerging that "cold storage" dupes and CIA/Mossad nurtured organizations may have had a hand in, not only the Mumbai attacks but the London and Madrid bombings as well.

Additional trails are leading to attacks on American troops inside Iraq and Afghanistan and against security forces inside Pakistan, particularly against Pakistan's ISI, primary target of press stories on the recent Wiki-Leak.

AMERICA AND THE "TORY NUKES"

VELA satellites: Detect signatures of nuclear explosions

There are two reasons to attack America's "forensic capabilities" when it comes to nuclear weapons.

A leak to the press chose not to cover, one bringing Israel under scrutiny for egregious violations of international treaties on Nuclear Proliferation, treaties Israel has never signed, were brought to the surface recently.

Back on September 22 1979, Israel and South Africa tested a nuclear device, an 18.2 kiloton bomb.

This test in a remote area of the Indian Ocean was detected by America's VELA satellite system and confirmed by acoustic sensors.

A forensic signature of this weapon was developed, not only through optics but through particle emissions.

When an identical weapon was detonated by North Korea on May 25, 2009, a question was raised.

How did a nuclear weapon built by Armscor, an Israel company operating in South Africa, end up in North Korea?

This is the story of the "Tory nukes," nuclear weapons purchased by Margaret Thatcher in 1991 from South Africa under a secret authorization describing the weapons as "cylinders."

Those involved in putting this bombs into special containers, transporting them to Durban and then off to a container storage facility in Oman from which they disappeared are now filling volumes.

When the weapons containers which had laid unguarded for months in a container yard in Oman were forwarded to the United States for dis-assembly in accordance with treaty requirements, only concrete blocks were found.

The disappearance has been directly tied to two arms traders who ran illegal trafficking for Israel and South Africa during the Iran-Iraq War.

The accused were business partners in the "Ollie North era" Reagan hijinks known as Iran Contra.

The "thieves" were connected to the highest levels of, not only Israeli intelligence but the CIA as well.

Israel says Saddam stole the weapons.

As late as 2003, Tony Blair used this "tale" to back what Deputy Prime Minister Nick Clegg calls "the illegal invasion of Iraq."

Blair had financial incentives to back the invasion, several million of them, as secret letters leaked to the press but never printed have shown.

PRIME MINISTER DAVID CAMERON, DR. DAVID KELLY AND ARMSCORE

Back in 1990, a very young David Cameron, later to become Prime Minister David Cameron, was offered a free trip to South Africa, paid for by Israeli owned Armscor, a nuclear weapons manufacturer.

Cameron was supposedly working with Dr. David Kelly investigating weapons of mass destruction in South Africa.

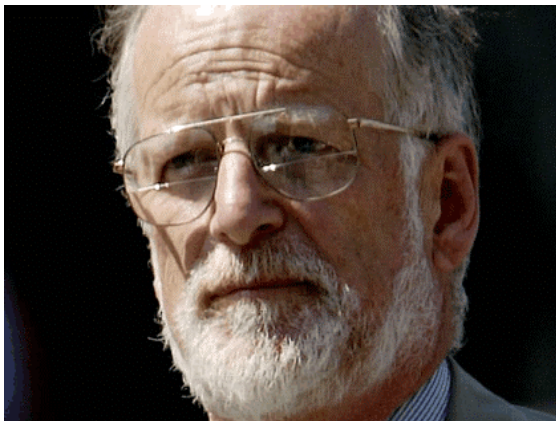

In fact something much different was going on.

On January 16, 2005, Tim Shipman, Defense Editor of the Sunday Express released the following story, one never reported in US papers.

Today, Dr. David Kelly is dead, clearly murdered because of what he knew and David Cameron is in India carefully reading from a script written in Tel Aviv.

This is the 2005 story from the Express: - Dr. David Kelly, the weapons expert who died in mysterious circumstances after the Iraq war, may have been about to reveal alarming details concerning missing nuclear weapons.

Sources familiar with Dr Kelly's work with South Africa's security services say he also knew damaging details of how nuclear weapons decommissioned by South Africa were lost in the Middle East in 1991.....

DR. DAVID KELLY, "SUICIDED" MISSING NUKE WHISTLEBLOWER

Informed experts who have contacted the Sunday Express claim the missing nuclear weapons found their way to Iraq.

The claims raise new questions about the extent of Dr Kelly's knowledge of British security secrets, which some insiders believe may have contributed to his death.

Some believe he may have been silenced to prevent him revealing more secrets to the media.

The South African weapons allegedly went missing in Oman on their way to be decommissioned in the US and may have then been smuggled to Iraq.

A source claimed: "Dr Kelly knew about the South African nukes because he worked for research facilities there.

Over the last year intelligence sources in both Britain and America have told journalists they believe that whatever Doomsday arsenal Saddam Hussein had accumulated before the second Gulf War was smuggled into Syria before the Spring 2003 invasion.

Last month the Sunday Express revealed that MI5 investigators looking for details of Dr Kelly's involvement with the South African government, seized his laptop computers after he died.

The coroner charged with investigating the Government scientist's death has said he will not reopen the case."

While British and American troops stormed across Iraq in 2003, searching for these missing nukes, defense experts now fear they had been in Israeli hands all along, a secret Dr. David Kelly was no longer willing to keep, one that led to his death.

The missing containers may easily have been transferred to the Netherlands, Nigeria or even the United States, perhaps even Indiana or Toledo as is now rumored.

British police have raided the homes of many involved in the missing weapons, seizing computers, personal papers and "frightening the hell out of people."

Some of those terrorized are scheduled witnesses for the Iraq War inquiry.

ONLY AMERICAN DEAD CAN PRE-STAGE THE IRAN ATTACK

This summer, Turkey and Brazil negotiated a deal with Iran to remove any nuclear fuel that could be used for weapons development.

It was exactly what everyone had been asking for.

President Obama ignored it and pushed for sanctions demanded by Israel.

Russia cancelled the sale of an S300 air defense system to Iran and voted to back sanctions against its ally, Iran also.

The relationship between Tel Aviv and the Russian oligarchs, seen so clearly during the Jonathan Pollard spy scandal, had reappeared for public again though no news organization picked any of this up.

With secret Israeli bases, believed used for transit of narcotics from Afghanistan, ringing Iran, Georgia, Azerbaijan, Turkmenistan, Kazakhstan and other nations in the region, and US supplies and munitions in place or being delivered through Black Sea ports, only American public opinion is holding up an attack on Iran, despite the fact that Iran's president Ahmadinejad has requested an immediate conference with President Obama to "settle outstanding issues."

UPSTAGING 9/11

Even though Iran is isolated, even from its Islamic neighbors, it has a substantial defensive capability.

Iran can quickly destroy all gulf region oil production facilities and close off shipping to that region, an act likely to collapse all western economies in days.

Militarily, however, Iran is unable to defend itself against the vast technological superiority of the United States.

However, after a decade of wars with Iraq remaining, not only unstable but increasingly so, and the United States facing defeat in Afghanistan, the American people are unlikely to want to begin a new conflict, especially with an adversary much more powerful than either Iraq and Afghanistan and Israel as the only ally, a country the United States has no mutual defense treaty with and no ability to sustain conflict beyond its own immediate borders for more than 48 hours.

Earlier this year, Israeli military historian Dr. Martin Van Creveld announced Israel's "King Torah" policy toward the "gentile nations"

"We have hundreds of nuclear warheads and missiles that can reach different targets in the heart of the European continent, including beyond the borders of Rome, the Italian capital...most European capitals would become preferred targets for the Israeli air force."

The legal justification for a nuclear attack is in place, part of Israeli law.

The will to do so is there if such an attack can be pulled off and few doubt Israel's ability who have seen the power of the Israeli lobby in Washington and have spoken of their control of the press, such as with the recent media castration of director Oliver Stone.

The tools are in place.

Israel is believed to possess two Hiroshima sized nuclear weapons, weapons that can be used freely because the media is ready to claim them to be "stolen" by Muslims if told to do so.

The third weapon was exploded by North Korea with the media blackout leaving Israel as the only possible source for this weapon.

No nation has the power to black out a leak like that one, not a leak that exposes Israel as a rogue arms dealer, first to apartheid South Africa, then Libya and both Iraq and Iran during their war and finally North Korea.

The ground is prepared, America is now stripped of "forensic" ability to track nuclear explosions, so the cover story tells us.

Israel still threatens the world with the missing nukes, weapons reason tells us they control.

Any container in any port, any truck, any warehouse could hide these weapons, anywhere in the United States.

When it happens, the vast majority of Americans will find the trail left, Pakistanis, Iranians, all as planned.

They will immediately call for the destruction of the Islamic world as is intended by Israel.

The internet will be shut down, congress sent home and anyone mentioning that only Israel profits and that only Israel could have done it will be imprisoned, as intended.

They learned from 9/11.

Too many questions were asked.

Too much evidence and proof was left behind for researchers and investigators to find

They won't make the same mistake again.

Inside Story-CIA Agent Raymond A. Davis

On January 29, I along with my family while going to my house passed through the Jail Road and viewed the seen of the unpleasant event.

In that incident on January 27, 2011 an American undercover secret agent Raymond A Davis killed two young boys just in front of famous "Bhatti Tikka Shop".

The site was marked with the nylon rope and the bloodshed of killed citizens over road was visible from a distance as well.

Out of these murdered persons, two were killed by Raymond who allegedly shot eight times with pinpoint accuracy through his car windshield and third one totally innocent young boy was crushed by another American vehicle which came for the rescue of the killer.

Davis and others Americans fled the vehicles away from the seen of the crime but thanks to Almighty Allah Who created a defect in a private car of the unknown lady just in front of Davis' car, and forced him to stop.

At that moment chasing police party successful captured Raymond Davis before he would has entered into the consulate.

But the vehicle which crushed Obaidur Rehman escaped itself and went to US consulate.

Despite repeated requests of Punjab government, US consulate has not produced the driver along with the vehicle to the police.

Reportedly, the driver and occupants of this vehicle have been secretly transported to Afghanistan by road and later on from there were flown to US.

The investigating Agency (Punjab Police) failed to completely open the trained CIA agent Davis.

However, the police recovered from him private pistol, few bullets, camera, cell phones, highly sophisticated wireless set and dollars.

The screening of camera revealed that Davis has carried out the photography of Pakistani bunkers situated on Eastern border, fort located at Waris Road (ex location of an Army Unit), sensitive buildings and locations.

The calls records of his mobile phones indicate that Davis was in connection with different Taliban groups (working in the interest of India and US). According to "The European Union Times Report" Russia's Foreign Intelligence Service (SVR) revealed that a top secret CIA documents found in Davis's possession point his connection with al-Qaeda terrorists and use to provide them "nuclear fissile material" and "biological agents" which could be used against the United States itself in order to ignite an all-out war in order to reestablish the West's hegemony over a Global economy that is warned is just months away from collapse.

The report further disclosed the information about Davis while quoting the report of "Times of India" that includes "According to records from the Pentagon, Davis is a former Special Forces soldier who left the army in August 2003 after 10 years of service.

A Virginia native, he served with infantry divisions prior to joining the 3rd Special Forces Group in Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

In 1994, he was part of the U.N. peacekeeping force in Macedonia.

The American Spy is in the habit of drug taking "Charse filled cigarette & Niswar" (both these drugs are extensively being used by the male inhabitants of Afghanistan and tribal area of Pakistan)

According to the officers of investigating agencies, neither US consulate nor Mr. Davis has cooperated in interrogation of the case.

It is also mentionable here that Investigating Agency has openly negated Davis stance over killing of the two citizens in self-defense.

Washington's foreign office and US ambassador instead assisting local police for fair investigation started crying for immunity of a spy under the Vienna acts.

The actual situation of the case of immunity is, Mr. Davis' name has not been included in that list which was provided by the US consulate to Interior Ministry for getting diplomatic facilities on January 23, 2011.

His name has been included in that list which was dispatched to Interior Ministry of Pakistan on January 28, 2011 (after the murder of Pakistani Citizens).

Thus, Davis name was listed maliciously to prove him as diplomat. Mr. Obama, Hilleary Clinton & John Kerry also tried to built up pressure on government of Pakistan to release Mr. Davis on the plea that his status comes under the Vienna act which gives immunity to diplomats.

Pakistan's former foreign minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi has said that US Secretary of State Hillary Clinton had pressurized him to verify the diplomatic immunity to Raymond Davis arrested for gunning down two men in Lahore.

"Hillary Clinton called me and wanted me to publicly confirm diplomatic immunity of Davis.

However, I refused to do so because it was against the factual position in the case," Qureshi was quoted as saying by Dunya News Saturday night.

In this regard government of Pakistan straight away refused to provide him the immunity and stated that matter would be decided by the court.

Anyhow, the above revealed facts forced Pakistani authorities to dig out the truth since now it's not the matter of two simple murders in self defence.

In fact it is matter of Pakistan's national security, integrity, respect, survival and sovereignty.

To reach the conclusion, the investigating agencies have to find out the answers of significant questions which are frustrating everyone's mind.

The questions could be

(One) Why Mr. Davis was roaming in Lahore with a loaded pistol and carried out photography of important sensitive places

(Two) is murder of the two young citizens result of some secret operation "agent burning of"

(Three) was Davis on some covert mission and thought that he had been compromised due to continuous chase by some local intelligence people, thus decided to get rid of them

(Four) was he working as a dual agent of RAW & Mossad apart from his parent organization CIA

(Five) has he been given the mission of sabotaging already scheduled US-Pakistan-Afghanistan Dialogues

(Six) was he really helping Al-Qaida in getting small yield nuclear weapons

(Seven) was he having some connection or clue in killing and abduction of Col (Retired) Imam

(Eight) why US consulate is reluctant in handing over the car along with driver for investigating which crushed a passing by motor cyclist

(Nine) Do the operators of Mr. Davis's desire to sabotage Obama's plan of leaving Afghanistan soon

(Ten) is he on the mission to sabotage forth coming Indo-Pak talks

(Eleven) Has CIA decided to get rid of Mr. Davis?

The analysis of the evidence available and questions raised in this article are giving indication that CIA spy Mr. Davis was on some secret mission and killed innocent Pakistani citizens considering them chaser of local intelligence organization or on "agent burning mission".

On under discussion issue of Davis top military and political leadership has unanimous view i.e. dealing the case with dignity, fairly and without taking the pressure of US.

In this connection on February 18, 2011, Prime Minister Yousaf Raza Gilani called on President Asif Ali Zardari at the Presidency.

"Chief of Army Staff General Ashfaq Kayani was also present during the meeting.

In this sitting issues relating to the war against militancy was discusses.

However, an official privy to meeting revealed that the issue of terrorism was deliberated upon during the talks, but the focus was on the Pakistan-US diplomatic row over the fate of the detained American citizen.

Pakistani judicial system is matured and independent.

Davis case is in the court so American top brass should respect the local courts which will definitely deal the case the on merit.

It is mentionable here that Pakistani government would never like to commit political suicide without taking the nation in confidence by unconditionally releasing CIA Spy.

Moreover the government will never like to sign on her death warrant just because of Davis stupidity or to win American sympathies.

Pakistani government should instruct foreign embassies to curtail their employees' activities.

US top brass if believe in long term strategic relations with Pakistan then she has to respect the emotions of the people and local laws.

America should also realize that she cannot fight the war on terror without Pakistan support.

In overall scenario the point to be pondering here that "Pakistani masses have started thinking whether America is their strategic friend or strategic enemy".

Thus, US authorities must control "Black Water" which has become the black spot for US.

Do you grasp what is going on?

The CIA uses a Blackwater contract agent to approach "Al Qaeda" or any convenient dumb-ass patsy and gives them the key ingredient to make a nuclear weapon.

Plus they garnish it with some biological weapons as an added bonus.

Then the public is fed a story about how nuclear weapons may already be inside the United States via the port in San Diego, to make the subsequent blast explainable.

This is 9-11 all over again.

The government of the US and Israel is desperate to kick off WW3 before the global revolution comes to their doorsteps.

They are cornered, and nothing is more dangerous than a cornered government willing to use a nuclear weapon on their own people.

This is not science fiction.

This is not a movie fantasy about a man in a Guy Fawkes mask.

This is the real deal!

"CIA spy" Davis was giving nuclear bomb material to Al-Qaeda, says report

<http://theintelhub.com/2011/02/16/fbi-says-there-is-a-100-chance-of-wmd-attack-just-days-after-san-diego-nuke-story/>

Double murder-accused US official Raymond Davis has been found in possession of top-secret CIA documents, which point to him or the feared American Task Force 373 (TF373) operating in the region, providing Al-Qaeda terrorists with "nuclear fissile material" and "biological agents," according to a report.

Remember how only a few days ago the FBI was quoted as saying there was a 100% chance a nuclear bomb would be set off inside the United States by "Al Qaeda?"

<http://theintelhub.com/2011/02/16/fbi-says-there-is-a-100-chance-of-wmd-attack-just-days-after-san-diego-nuke-story/>

Easy prediction to make when you know the CIA is giving "Al Qaeda" the fissile material and biological weapons!

U.S. Caught in a Big Lie: Provocateur in Pakistan is CIA Operative

Talk about getting caught in a Big Lie.

So desperate has been the US effort to get the US government killer Raymond Davis sprung from police custody in Lahore, Pakistan following his execution-style slaughter of two Pakistani intelligence operatives in broad daylight in a crowded commercial area, that the government trotted out President Obama to declare that Pakistan was violating the Vienna Convention on Diplomatic Relations by holding "our diplomat."

He insisted Davis had only been defending himself against robbers, and should in any case be entitled to absolute immunity...

Now both the Guardian newspaper in the UK over the weekend, and the Associated Press today are reporting that sources in both the Pakistani and American governments are confirming that Davis works for the CIA.

The AP is even reporting that he is a "CIA security contractor," which is something less and a little more amorphous than a CIA employee, and that means he has no claim on diplomatic immunity whatever, and that raises the added question of who he actually is and who he actually works for.

But more on that later.

The Guardian noted in its article that Davis's wife had provided phone numbers for information about him to a local TV station and that those numbers turned out to be the CIA.

Meanwhile, Agence France Press reported over the weekend that Sen. Lindsay Graham (R-SC), a loose-tongued member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, also apparently inadvertently slipped up and disclosed on the Senate floor that Davis is an "agent", saying, "We can't throw this agent over."

America's and the President's reputations lie in tatters as a result of the handling of this bloody incident.

Not only did the US dispatch to Islamabad members of Congress, including the oleaginous Sen. John Kerry (D-MA), as well as the reprehensible Secretary of State Hillary Clinton to press for Davis's release, threatening the withholding of aid to Pakistan (our ostensible ally in the Afghanistan War!).

It provided a patently false document to the Pakistani Foreign Office claiming Davis to be an employee of the US Embassy in Islamabad (which would have meant he'd have immunity from arrest and detention), when he was actually working out of the Lahore Consulate, where he would not be entitled to any immunity for his actions).

It also tried to exchange his regular passport for a diplomatic one a day after his arrest, again retroactively trying to get him immunity from prosecution for his murderous acts.

Furthermore, the US government, according to the Guardian, induced major US news organizations to hide what they knew about Davis's real role from the American public.

The paper reported that several US news organizations had also learned on their own that Davis is a spy, but then voluntarily withheld the information from the American public "at the request of the Obama administration," which preferred to stick to the fictional story line that Pakistan is holding an American "diplomat" in "violation of the Vienna Convention" on diplomatic immunity.

In fact, on Feb. 15, when the president lectured Pakistan about releasing "our diplomat" Davis, saying "We've got a very simple principle here that every country in the world that is party to the Vienna Convention on diplomatic relations has upheld in the past and should uphold in the future, and that is, if our diplomats are in another country, then they are not subject to that country's local prosecution," not only did he know he was lying, but so did some major news organizations which ran his statement but didn't tell readers the truth Davis was no diplomat, but was a spook, or a contractor for a spook agency.

Update Even late today, when the NY Times finally says it got "permission" from the government to publish what it knew--that Davis "worked with" the CIA, it still fudged the issue of its allowing President Obama to lie at his press conference.

"Without describing Mr. Davis's mission or intelligence affiliation, President Obama last week made a public plea for his release," the self-described "paper of record" wrote.

But that's not what Obama did.

He simply lied and called Davis a "diplomat" and demanded his release, claiming he had immunity, and the Times knowingly let him get away with that lie.

This Dept. of Defense Contractor ID found on Davis belies his "diplomat" claim, but also raises questions about whether he's really CIA, or something else

Readers of This Cant Be Happening, will not be surprised about any of this however.

Our online newspaper has, over the last three weeks, exposed the fact that the company that Davis claimed to work for in the US, Hyperion Protective Services, LLC, of Orlando Florida, was a fraud--the address on the business cards that Davis was carrying when arrested we traced to a vacant storefront in a run-down and nearly empty strip mall in Orlando.

The store front had been vacant since 2009, according to the owner of the property.

We also reported, when the rest of the media was hiding the information, that the men Davis murdered were not robbers, but were Pakistani intelligence people.

As well, we reported before any other US media, the news that police had found all manner of spy and even terrorist materials in Davis's car.

(Much of that information was available in the Pakistani press, which was talking to the police and prosecutors in Lahore, but not in the US press, either because US reporters in Pakistan were just talking to US sources, or because their editors back in the States were censoring their reports.)

I would suggest, however, that this story is not over yet.

It may well be that while Davis is a contractor for the CIA, he could also be something else a still active-duty member of US Special Forces.

One of the items found on him by arresting police was an ID card identifying him as a DOD (Department of Defense) contractor.

See below: - Davis reportedly spent 10 years in US Special Forces until allegedly leaving in 2003, but apparently it has become increasingly common for the US to use Special Forces personnel in countries all over the world who are "off the books" in terms of being registered as active duty at the Pentagon, with records of their service being maintained only at the unit level.

The thing is, while it is commonplace in the international diplomatic world for embassies to give diplomatic cover to members of their intelligence services, giving active-duty military personnel diplomatic such "cover" would be a grave violation of international diplomatic protocol.

And since local Pakistani politics make it unlikely that the ruse of trying to call him an embassy employee, rather than a Lahore Consulate employee will work with the Pakistan court, it could be the US government has decided now to fall back to claiming he's CIA, which would probably at least spare him a hanging, even if it leaves him with a long jail sentence in a Lahore prison.

My main reasoning for thinking Davis is in Special Forces is that CIA agents don't typically advertise themselves as being in the "security" business.

Yet Davis was carrying cards when he was arrested after slaughtering two Pakistanis that identified him as an employee of Hyperion Protective Services, LLC.

That kind of thing may well be what a cowboy secret Special Forces commando might do, but not a CIA agent.

Furthermore, the kind of killing that Davis was involved in--the daylight execution on a crowded street of two young men on motorcycles--and the equipment police found in his car, which included multiple semi-automatic pistols and high-capacity clips, a telescope, a forehead-mounted infra-red flashlight, multiple cell-phones, a cell-phone locator, clippers, military knives, makeup and masks and a camera filled with photos of schools (common targets for bombings in Lahore and other Pakistani cities)--sound dirtier than the typical CIA fare.

Adding to the suspicion that Davis is involved in something more than just spy work or intelligence gathering is the report in today's NY Times that he "has worked for years as a C.I.A. contractor, including time at Blackwater Worldwide, the private security firm (now called Xe)."

It's easy why the American government has been trying so hard to keep their Pakistani police and prosecutors from applying the thumbscrew and waterboard to this particular prisoner!

Two things are clear already though.

One is that the US is a thoroughly untrustworthy member of the international diplomatic community.

It has shown that, from the President on down, it is ready to bald-facedly lie to its own allies to cover up its nefarious activities, which well could include fomenting terror within their borders.

The other is that the US media are nothing more than propaganda mouthpieces for that same wretched government, ready to help it cover up its crimes when asked.

Two CIA contractors spirited out of Pakistan

<http://weeklyintercept.blogspot.com/2011/02/reuters-reuters-two-u.html>

(Reuters) - Two U.S. citizens with diplomatic status were quietly withdrawn from Pakistan after being involved in a fatal car accident last month while trying to help Raymond Davis, a CIA contractor being held by Pakistani authorities on murder charges.

Editors Note: Keep in mind that these agents were also involved with providing Al Qaeda operatives with "nuclear fissile material" and "biological agents".

Editors Note: Keep in mind that these agents were also involved with providing Al Qaeda operatives with "nuclear fissile material" and "biological agents".

This is what the U.S. is attempting to cover up.

Two officials familiar with U.S. government activities in Pakistan said the two Americans who left the country worked for the CIA under contract as protective officers.

This means they were employed as highly skilled bodyguards, like Davis, for CIA operations officers serving in Pakistan.

The two Americans who left Pakistan have not been otherwise identified by U.S. or Pakistani authorities.

The CIA declined to comment.

According to a translated Pakistani police statement obtained by Reuters, the two Americans got into the car crash while trying to go to the aid of Davis, who U.S. sources say claims he shot dead two Pakistanis on a motorcycle when they tried to rob him at gunpoint as he was driving in Lahore.

The police report says the vehicle used by the unidentified Americans, a Landcruiser belonging to the U.S. consulate in Lahore, drove the wrong way down a one-way street.

It struck and killed a motorcyclist named Muhammad Ibad-ur-Rehman, the report said, and "fled from the scene of the incident."

The two U.S. officials confirmed media reports the two men involved in the fatal accident were working and living in the same building in Lahore as Davis.

They said all three men were working on similar security assignments for the CIA.

Pakistani officials and news reports have said items recovered from Davis included a telescope, a 9mm pistol and a camera containing pictures of bridges and religious schools known as madrassas.

Current and former U.S. national security officials familiar with the role of CIA "protective officer" contractors say it would be routine for them to do reconnaissance missions to chart safe travel routes and spot security threats.

U.S. officials deny media reports that Davis was involved in some kind of undercover counter-terrorism operations.

They also deny reports from Pakistan suggesting that Davis' assailants had some link to the Inter Services Intelligence directorate, Pakistan's principal intelligence agency.

Elements of the ISI have been involved in secretly supporting U.S. counter-terrorism operations in Pakistan, including a long-running campaign to attack suspected militant camps using missiles fired from unmanned drone aircraft.

CIA Agent Caught Red-Handed Aiding Pakistani Terrorism?

But the deeper story is that Davis allegedly actively aided and abetted terrorism.

As CNN notes: - Some newspapers cited unnamed sources to link Davis with "terrorist activity" and the Pakistani Taliban.

"CIA agent Davis had ties with local militants," read the headline in The Express Tribune.

The Tribune quoted an unnamed "senior police official" as saying Davis was suspected in masterminding terrorist activity.

"His close ties with the TTP (The Pakistani Taliban) were revealed during the investigations," the paper quoted the police official as saying.

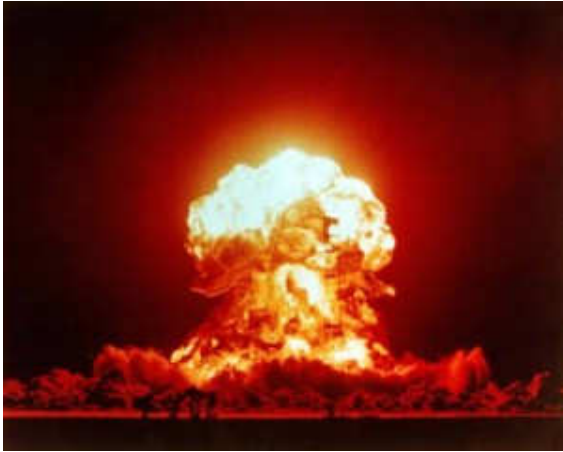

"Davis was instrumental in recruiting young people from Punjab for the Taliban to fuel the insurgency."

PAKISTAN AT RISK OF REVOLT OF CIA AGENT DAVIS SENT HOME!

The real story here is that Davis was caught trying to give nuclear and biological materials to some patsies for them to carry out a false-flag attack that could be used to ignite WW3.

Radical Zionists Encourage the Murder of Millions of Innocent People with Nuclear Weapons just because they are Arabs or Muslims

Nuclear_Holocaust

Nuclear weapons are the most terrible weapons ever invented.

The initial explosion is as hot as the sun, capable of instantly vaporizing an entire city.

Afterward, the survivors are certain to suffer from the fall-out and die from radiation poisoning.

Generations to come will experience genetic mutations, not to mention the tremendous damage done to the environment itself.

Innocent people are guaranteed to be victims for many years after the blast.

But none of these horrors are too much for the radically Islamophobic wing of Zionism.

The website Israeli Insider has republished “by popular request” perhaps the most dehumanizing anti-Muslim hate piece I have ever read.

Our Zionist author proposes the “Samson Strategy” (named after the biblical figure) which can only be described as the unrestrained (and unprincipled) massacre of innocent people, Muslims and non-Muslims, in retaliation for attacks against Israel.

Other like-minded Zionists argued after 9/11 that Islam’s holy sites should be destroyed if Israel is harmed by Muslim extremists.

Our author, however, has a different plan:

I disagree with his prescription.

It doesn’t go nearly far enough.

Destroying the holy sites of all 1.5 billion Muslims in retaliation for the acts of a few extremists is undoubtedly a heinous war crime under article 33 of the Geneva Convention:

No protected person may be punished for an offense he or she has not personally committed. Collective penalties and likewise all measures of intimidation or of terrorism are prohibited.

The Israeli Defense Force has been regularly accused of collective punishment in its wars with its neighbors.

Many human rights lawyers, including Israeli scholars, consider the IDF’s actions a form of state terrorism.

Yet, it appears our author’s hatred of Muslims as a collective is so great that he isn’t satisfied with regular run-of-the-mill war crimes.

Rather, he would release Israel's secret nuclear arsenal against literally millions and millions of innocent people who, in reality, are fellow Children of Abraham that have absolutely nothing to do with the Israeli-Palestinian conflict

Our only choice is to hit them first, to hit them so hard that they will not be able to realize their murderous aims...

And that's why the best use of Israel's presumed arsenal of nukes should be pointed not so much at the population centers of our enemies but at their symbolic centers.

Yes, Mecca.

And Medina.

Najaf and Qum.

Mount Arafat and Baalbek.

And, not to be neglected: Al-Aqsa and the Dome of the Rock on Jerusalem's Temple Mount.

I wonder, did he mean to imply he wanted to "nuke" the Temple Mount as well?

Or perhaps war crimes using conventional weapons are sufficient in Jerusalem (so as not to damage the sacred site of the Third Jewish Temple)?

In any case, his genocidal fury is predicated on the demonstrably false assumption that all Muslims everywhere (without exception) are single-mindedly bent on murdering everyone in Israel

So there can be no doubt that if the Muslims should ever get the bomb, they will do anything and everything to try to assert their till-now impotent pseudo-manhooD (expressable [sic] now only by murdering women who assert their independence and by turning non-Muslims into dhimmis) by launching a missile in our direction and, they hope, maybe getting lucky.

It's a shame our author sees no room for peace with Muslims, though many Muslims and Jews enjoy friendship together.

Even the late ultra-conservative Grand Mufti of Saudi Arabia has argued, citing the Qur'an (verse 8:61), that reaching a peace agreement with Israel is beneficial to Muslims.

Still, none of these facts keep our Zionist author from targeting all Muslims.

We have already debunked the anti-Muslim canards concerning women and dhimmitude.

It is not surprising that a radical Zionist should essentialize Islam in this way (i.e. "All Muslims hate women and Jews!").

However, I was shocked by this line: Allah bows down before the Lord of the Jews, just as Hagar and Ishmael were cast out into the desert, unwanted and discarded, by father Abraham.

Vibrant, successful, ethical and freedom-loving Israel is proof that Ishmael is culturally castrated and spiritually corrupt.

This is some serious multi-layered ignorance here. Allah, as we have said many times before, is simply the Arabic word for God used by Jews.

It is completely nonsensical to say Allah bows down to the Lord of the Jews because Allah is the Lord of the Jews!

That is, of course, unless one has a xenophobic superiority complex, which incidentally is revealed in our author's second sentence.

Jews, we are told, are "vibrant, successful, ethical, and freedom-loving" while Arabs are "culturally castrated and spiritually corrupt."

Can you get more explicitly racist than that?

I fail to see how the author can credibly claim to be spiritually superior while advocating the cold-blooded murder of innumerable innocent people, women and children.

In my mind, pure anti-Arab racism is at work here.

Too often does the news media cover stories about scary radical Muslims who burn American and Israeli flags, but not covered are stories (like this one) about equally scary radical Jews (Zionists) who likewise subscribe to a supremacist, murderous religio-political ideology.

For this reason, the Israeli-Palestinian conflict has continued to rage for decades, not because of some inherent evil in Arab/Muslim DNA, but because Israeli extremists (and their Arab counterparts) have consistently prevented a fair, balanced solution from emerging.

Jews and Arabs will only be able to live in peace together, in the holy land, when both sides reign in their extremists and prepare (and educate) their populations for peace and social justice.

But this will never happen so long as the allies of Israel continue to ignore or downplay the Israeli side of the equation.

Time for solving the crisis is running out.

For all we know, a group of Zionist fundamentalists have already infiltrated the Israeli army and are just waiting to unleash the "Samson Strategy."

Who is watching the watcher?

God help us all...

IRAN SHOULD BE EASY TO DEFEAT?

Iran should be easy to defeat.

A large number of the key people in Iran most likely work for the CIA.

When Iraq was invaded, the top ranks of the Republican Guard and the Iraqi army, aided by the CIA, "defected en masse."

The CIA put the Shah into power and then toppled him when he became too independent.

The Shah upset the Jewish lobby, the drugs barons and the Pentagon.

Ahmadinejad had better watch out

Israel will most likely decide the fate of Iran.

Iran will be easily defeated, but the Pentagon may not want a short war.

Think of Afghanistan.

"The whole war is a big show, has been since the fall of Tora Bora.

"This war and the one in Iraq were both won on the battlefield after a few months of fighting.

"The decision was made to carry-on with this American Kabuki theater, where remnants of the Iraqi Army, as well as the Taliban, became mercenaries for America, Britain and Israel, staging war simulations to mislead Western audiences."

Why might the USA want to attack Iran?

1. America's military-industrial-narco complex makes money from wars.

Reportedly, 40% of Americans are employed directly or indirectly in the defence industry.

2. The USA sees China and Russia as rivals of America and Iran is too friendly with Russia and China.

3. Israel wants to crush Iran, which is a barrier to the establishment of a Greater Israel.

4. Iran has lots of oil and oil pipeline routes.

"Iran said ... it has agreed with Turkey to build a EUR1 billion pipeline that may export natural gas to Europe, as Tehran clinches deals with neighbors despite mounting international sanctions."

The news come after Iran and Pakistan signed a contract in March to start the construction of another pipeline that could transport gas to India." Iran, Turkey Sign Gas Pipeline Deal

Preparing for World War III, Targeting Iran

1. Preparations to attack Iran, Syria and Lebanon are in "an advanced state of readiness".

"First Iraq, then Iran according to a declassified 1995 US Central Command document."

2. "The war economy is financed by Wall Street, which stands as the creditor of the US administration.

"The US weapons producers are the recipients of the US Department of Defense multibillion dollar procurement contracts for advanced weapons systems. "In turn, 'the battle for oil' in the Middle East and Central Asia directly serves the interests of the Anglo-American oil giants."

3. "Were Iran to be the object of a 'pre-emptive' aerial attack by allied forces, the entire region, from the Eastern Mediterranean to China's Western frontier with Afghanistan and Pakistan, would flare up, leading us potentially into a World War III scenario."

4. "Iran, with an an estimated ten percent of global oil and gas reserves, ranks third after Saudi Arabia (25 %) and Iraq (11 %) in the size of its reserves.

"Of significance is the recent discovery in Iran of the second largest known reserves of natural gas at Soumar and Halgan estimated at 12.4 trillion cubic feet.

"Targeting Iran consists not only in reclaiming Anglo-American control over Iran's oil and gas economy, including pipeline routes, it also challenges the presence and influence of China and Russia in the region."

5. "The medium term strategic objective is to target Iran and neutralize Iran's allies, through gunboat diplomacy. The longer term military objective is to directly target China and Russia.

"Concurrently the Eastern Mediterranean, the Black Sea, the Caribbean, Central America and the Andean region of South America are areas of ongoing militarization."

6. "People should rise up against this military project.
"Members of the armed forces should disobey orders and refuse to participate in a criminal war."

In the 1381 Peasants Revolt in England, the people went on the march.

The king promised to meet the peasants' demands.

The peasants headed homewards.

Most of the leaders of the revolt were then executed and the king broke his promises.

Secret War: How the CIA Defeated Saddam Hussein

Humanity is at a dangerous crossroads.

War preparations to attack Iran are in "an advanced state of readiness".

Hi tech weapons systems including nuclear warheads are fully deployed.

This military adventure has been on the Pentagon's drawing board since the mid-1990s.

First Iraq, then Iran according to a declassified 1995 US Central Command document.

Escalation is part of the military agenda.

While Iran, is the next target together with Syria and Lebanon, this strategic military deployment also threatens North Korea, China and Russia.

Since 2005, the US and its allies, including America's NATO partners and Israel, have been involved in the extensive deployment and stockpiling of advanced weapons systems.

The air defense systems of the US, NATO member countries and Israel are fully integrated.

This is a coordinated endeavor of the Pentagon, NATO, Israel's Defense Force (IDF), with the active military involvement of several non-NATO partner countries including the frontline Arab states (members of NATO's Mediterranean Dialogue and the Istanbul Cooperation Initiative), Saudi Arabia, Japan, South Korea, India, Indonesia, Singapore, Australia, among others.

(NATO consists of 28 NATO member states Another 21 countries are members of the Euro-Atlantic Partnership Council (EAPC), The Mediterranean Dialogue and the Istanbul Cooperation Initiative include ten Arab countries plus Israel.)

The roles of Egypt, the Gulf states and Saudi Arabia (within the extended military alliance) is of particular relevance.

Egypt controls the transit of war ships and oil tankers through the Suez Canal.

Saudi Arabia and the Gulf States occupy the South Western coastlines of the Persian Gulf, the Straits of Hormuz and the Gulf of Oman.

In early June, "Egypt reportedly allowed one Israeli and eleven U.S. ships to pass through the Suez Canal in ....an apparent signal to Iran. ...

On June 12, regional press outlets reported that the Saudis had granted Israel the right to fly over its airspace..." (Muriel Mirak Weissbach, Israel's Insane War on Iran Must Be Prevented., Global Research, July 31, 2010)

In post 9/11 military doctrine, this massive deployment of military hardware has been defined as part of the so-called "Global War on Terrorism", targeting "non-State" terrorist organizations including al Qaeda and so-called "State sponsors of terrorism",. including Iran, Syria, Lebanon, Sudan.

The setting up of new US military bases, the stockpiling of advanced weapons systems including tactical nuclear weapons, etc. were implemented as part of the pre-emptive defensive military doctrine under the umbrella of the "Global War on Terrorism".

War and the Economic Crisis

The broader implications of a US-NATO Israel attack on Iran are far-reaching.

The war and the economic crisis are intimately related.

The war economy is financed by Wall Street, which stands as the creditor of the US administration.

The US weapons producers are the recipients of the US Department of Defense multibillion dollar procurement contracts for advanced weapons systems.

In turn, "the battle for oil" in the Middle East and Central Asia directly serves the interests of the Anglo-American oil giants.

The US and its allies are "beating the drums of war" at the height of a Worldwide economic depression, not to mention the most serious environmental catastrophe in World history.

In a bitter twist, one of the major players (BP) on the Middle East Central Asia geopolitical chessboard, formerly known as the Anglo-Persian Oil Company, is the instigator of the ecological disaster in the Gulf of Mexico.

Media Disinformation

Public opinion, swayed by media hype is tacitly supportive, indifferent or ignorant as to the likely impacts of what is upheld as an ad hoc "punitive" operation directed against Iran's nuclear facilities rather than an all out war.

War preparations include the deployment of US and Israeli produced nuclear weapons.

In this context, the devastating consequences of a nuclear war are either trivialised or simply not mentioned.

The "real crisis" threatening humanity, according to the media and the governments, is not war but global warming.

The media will fabricate a crisis where there is no crisis: "a global scare" -- the H1N1 global pandemic-- but nobody seems to fear a US sponsored nuclear war.

The war on Iran is presented to public opinion as an issue among others.

It is not viewed as a threat to "Mother Earth" as in the case of global warming.

It is not front-page news.

The fact that an attack on Iran could lead to escalation and potentially unleash a "global war" is not a matter of concern.

The Cult of Killing and Destruction

The global killing machine is also sustained by an imbedded cult of killing and destruction which pervades Hollywood movies, not to mention the prime time war and crime TV series on network television.

This cult of killing is endorsed by the CIA and the Pentagon which also support (finance) Hollywood productions as an instrument of war propaganda

"Ex-CIA agent Bob Baer told us, "There's a symbiosis between the CIA and Hollywood" and revealed that former CIA director George Tenet is currently, "out in Hollywood, talking to studios." (Matthew Alford and Robbie Graham, Lights, Camera... Covert Action: The Deep Politics of Hollywood, Global Research, January 31, 2009).

The killing machine is deployed at a global level, within the framework of the unified combat command structure. It is routinely upheld by the institutions of government, the corporate media and the mandarins and intellectuals of the New World Order in Washington's think tanks and strategic studies research institutes, as an unquestioned instrument of peace and global prosperity.

A culture of killing and violence has become imbedded in human consciousness.

War is broadly accepted as part of a societal process: The Homeland needs to be "defended" and protected.

"Legitimized violence" and extrajudicial killings directed against "terrorists" are upheld in western democracies, as necessary instruments of national security.

A "humanitarian war" is upheld by the so-called international community.

It is not condemned as a criminal act.

Its main architects are rewarded for their contributions to world peace.

With regard to Iran, what is unfolding is the outright legitimization of war in the name of an illusive notion of global security.

A "Pre-emptive" Aerial attack directed against Iran would lead to Escalation

At present there are three separate Middle East Central Asia war theaters: Iraq, Af-Pak, and Palestine.

Were Iran to be the object of a "pre-emptive" aerial attack by allied forces, the entire region, from the Eastern Mediterranean to China's Western frontier with Afghanistan and Pakistan, would flare up, leading us potentially into a World War III scenario.

The war would also extend into Lebanon and Syria.

It is highly unlikely that the bombings, if they were to be implemented, would be circumscribed to Iran's nuclear facilities as claimed by US-NATO official statements.

What is more probable is an all out air attack on both military and civilian infrastructure, transport systems, factories, public buildings.

Iran, with an estimated ten percent of global oil and gas reserves, ranks third after Saudi Arabia (25 %) and Iraq (11 %) in the size of its reserves.

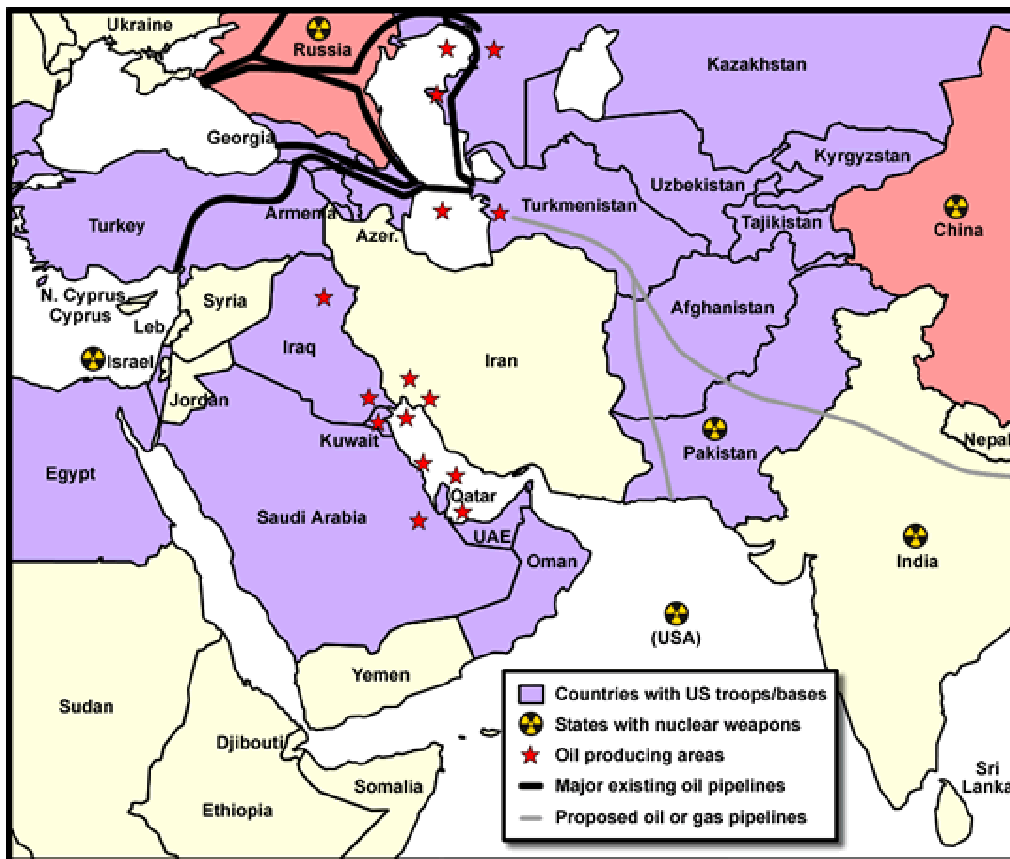

In comparison, the US possesses less than 2.8 % of global oil reserves.

The oil reserves of the U.S. are estimated at less than 20 billion barrels.

The broader region of the Middle East and Central Asia have oil reserves which are more than thirty times those of the U.S, representing more than 60% of the World's total reserves. (See Eric Waddell, The Battle for Oil, Global Research, December 2004).

Of significance is the recent discovery in Iran of the second largest known reserves of natural gas at Soumar and Halgan estimated at 12.4 trillion cubic feet.

Targeting Iran consists not only in reclaiming Anglo-American control over Iran's oil and gas economy, including pipeline routes, it also challenges the presence and influence of China and Russia in the region.

The planned attack on Iran is part of a coordinated global military road map.

It is part of the Pentagon's "long war" a profit driven war without borders, a project of World domination, a sequence of military operations.

US-NATO military planners have envisaged various scenarios of military escalation.

They are also acutely aware of the geopolitical implications, namely that the war could extend beyond the Middle East Central Asia region.

The economic impacts on the oil markets, etc. have also been analyzed.

While Iran, Syria and Lebanon are the immediate targets, China, Russia, North Korea, not to mention Venezuela and Cuba are also the object of US threats.

At stake is the structure of military alliances. US-NATO-Israel military deployments including military exercises and drills conducted on Russia and China's immediate borders bear a direct relationship to the proposed war on Iran.

These veiled threats, including their timing, constitute an obvious hint to the former powers of the Cold War era not to intervene in any way which could encroach upon a US-led attack on Iran.

Global Warfare

The medium term strategic objective is to target Iran and neutralize Iran's allies, through gunboat diplomacy.

The longer term military objective is to directly target China and Russia.

While Iran is the immediate target, military deployment is by no means limited to the Middle East and Central Asia.

A global military agenda has been formulated.

The deployment of coalition troops and advanced weapons systems by the US, NATO and its partners is occurring simultaneously in all major regions of the World.

The recent actions of the US military off the coast of North Korea including the conduct of war games are part of a global design.

Directed primarily against Russia and China, US, NATO and allied military exercises, war drills, weapons deployments, etc. are being conducted simultaneously in major geopolitical hotspots.

-The Korean Peninsula, the Sea of Japan, the Taiwan Straits, the South China Sea threatening China.

-The deployment of Patriot missiles in Poland, the early warning center in the Czech republic threatening Russia.

-Naval deployments in Bulgaria, Romania on the Black Sea, threatening Russia.

- US and NATO troops deployments in Georgia.

- A formidable naval deployment in the Persian Gulf including Israeli submarines directed against Iran.

Concurrently the Eastern Mediterranean, the Black Sea, the Caribbean, Central America and the Andean region of South America are areas of ongoing militarization.

In Latin America and the Caribbean, the threats are directed against Venezuela and Cuba.

US "Military Aid"

In turn, large scale weapons transfers have been undertaken under the banner of US "military aid" to selected countries, including a 5 billion dollar arms deal with India which is intended to build India's capabilities directed against China.

(Huge U.S.-India Arms Deal To Contain China, Global Times, July 13, 2010).

"[The] arms sales will improve ties between Washington and New Delhi, and, intentionally or not, will have the effect of containing China's influence in the region." quoted in Rick Rozoff, Confronting both China and Russia: U.S. Risks Military Clash With China In Yellow Sea, Global Research, July 16, 2010)

The US has military cooperation agreements with a number of South East Asian countries including Singapore, Vietnam and Indonesia, involving "military aid" as well as the participation in U.S.-led war games in the Pacific Rim (July -August 2010).

These agreements are supportive of weapons deployments directed against The People's Republic of China.

(See Rick Rozoff, Confronting both China and Russia: U.S. Risks Military Clash With China In Yellow Sea, Global Research, July 16, 2010).

Similarly and more directly related to the planned attack on Iran, the US is arming the Gulf States (Bahrain, Kuwait, Qatar and the United Arab Emirates) with land-based interceptor missiles, Patriot Advanced Capability-3 and Terminal High Altitude Area Defense (THAAD) as well as sea-based Standard Missile-3 interceptors installed on Aegis class warships in the Persian Gulf.

(See Rick Rozoff, NATO's Role In The Military Encirclement Of Iran, Global Research, February 10, 2010).

The Timetable of Military Stockpiling and Deployment

What is crucial in regards to US weapons transfers to partner countries and allies is the actual timing of delivery and deployment.

The launch of a US sponsored military operation would normally occur once these weapons systems are in place, effectively deployed with the implementation of personnel training. (e.g India).

What we are dealing with is a carefully coordinated global military design controlled by the Pentagon, involving the combined armed forces of more than forty countries.

This global multinational military deployment is by far the largest display of advanced weapons systems in World history.

In turn, the US and its allies have established new military bases in different parts of the world.

"The Surface of the Earth is Structured as a Wide Battlefield".

(See Jules Dufour, The Worldwide Network of US Military Bases , Global Research, July 1, 2007).

The Unified Command structure divided up into geographic Combatant Commands is predicated on a strategy of militarization at the global level.

The US Military has bases in 63 countries.

Brand new military bases have been built since September 11, 2001 in seven countries.

In total, there are 255,065 US military personnel deployed Worldwide."

World War III Scenario

"The World Commanders' Areas of Responsibility" (See Map above) defines the Pentagon's global military design, which is one of World conquest.

This military deployment is occurring in several regions simultaneously under the coordination of the regional US Commands, involving the stockpiling of US made weapons systems by US forces and partner countries, some of which are former enemies, including Vietnam and Japan.

The present context is characterised by a global military build-up controlled by one World superpower, which is using its numerous allies to trigger regional wars.

In contrast, the Second World War was a conjunction of separate regional war theaters.

Given the communications technologies and weapons systems of the 1940s, there was no strategic "real time" coordination in military actions between broad geographic regions
Global warfare is based on the coordinated deployment of a single dominant military power, which oversees the actions of its allies and partners.

With the exception of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, the Second World War was characterized by the use of conventional weapons.

The planning of a global war relies on the militarization of outer space.

Were a war directed against Iran to be launched, it would not only use nuclear weapons, the entire gamut of new advanced weapons systems, including electromagnetic weapons and environmental modification techniques (ENMOD) would be used.

The United Nations Security Council

The UN Security Council adopted in early June a fourth round of sweeping sanctions against The Islamic Republic of Iran, which included an expanded arms embargo as well "tougher financial controls".

In a bitter irony, this resolution was passed within days of the United Nations Security Council's outright refusal to adopt a motion condemning Israel for its attack on the Gaza Freedom Flotilla in international waters.

Both China and Russia, pressured by the US, have endorsed the UNSC sanctions' regime, to their own detriment.

Their decision within the UNSC contributes to weakening their own military alliance, the Shanghai Cooperation organization (SCO), in which Iran has observer status.

The Security Council resolution freezes China and Russia's respective bilateral military cooperation and trade agreements with Iran.

It has serious repercussions on Iran's air defense system which in part depends on Russian technology and expertise.

The Security Council resolution grants a de facto "green light" to wage a pre-emptive war against Iran.

The American Inquisition: Building a Political Consensus for War

In chorus, the Western media has branded Iran as a threat to global security in view of its alleged (non-existent) nuclear weapons program.

Echoing official statements, the media is now demanding the implementation of punitive bombings directed against Iran so as to safeguard Israel's security.

The Western media is beating the drums of war.

The purpose is to tacitly instill, through repeated media reports, ad nauseam, within people's inner consciousness, the notion that the Iranian threat is real and that the Islamic Republic should be "taken out".

A consensus building process to wage war is similar to the Spanish inquisition.

It requires and demands submission to the notion that war is a humanitarian endeavor.

Known and documented, the real threat to global security emanates from the US-NATO-Israel alliance, yet realities in an inquisitorial environment are turned upside down: the warmongers are committed to peace, the victims of war are presented as the protagonists of war.

Whereas in 2006, almost two thirds of Americans were opposed to military action against Iran, a recent Reuter-Zogby February 2010 poll suggests that 56 % of Americans favor a US-NATO military action against Iran.

Building a political consensus which is based on an outright lie cannot, however, rely solely on the official position of those who are the source of the lie.

The antiwar movement in the US, which has in part been infiltrated and co-opted, has taken on a weak stance with regard to Iran.

The antiwar movement is divided.

The emphasis has been on wars which have already occurred (Afghanistan, Iraq) rather than forcefully opposing wars which are being prepared and which are currently on the Pentagon's drawing board.

Since the inauguration of the Obama administration, the antiwar movement has lost some of its impetus.

Moreover, those who actively oppose the wars on Afghanistan and Iraq, do not necessarily oppose the conduct of "punitive bombings" directed Iran, nor do they categorize these bombings as an act of war, which could potentially be a prelude to World War III.

The scale of antiwar protest in relation to Iran has been minimal in comparison to the mass demonstrations which preceded the 2003 bombing and invasion of Iraq.

The real threat to global security emanates from the US-NATO-Israel alliance.

The Iran operation is not being opposed in the diplomatic arena by China and Russia it has the support of the governments of the frontline Arab states which are integrated into the NATO sponsored Mediterranean dialogue.

It also has the tacit support of Western public opinion.

We call upon people across the land, in America, Western Europe, Israel, Turkey and around the world to rise up against this military project, against their governments which are supportive of military action against Iran, against the media which serves to camouflage the devastating implications of a war against Iran.

The military agenda support a profit driven destructive global economic system which impoverishes large sectors of the world population.

This war is sheer madness.

World War III is terminal.

Albert Einstein understood the perils of nuclear war and the extinction of life on earth, which has already started with the radioactive contamination resulting from depleted uranium.

"I know not with what weapons World War III will be fought, but World War IV will be fought with sticks and stones."

The media, the intellectuals, the scientists and the politicians, in chorus, obfuscate the untold truth, namely that war using nuclear warheads destroys humanity, and that this complex process of gradual destruction has already commenced.

When the lie becomes the truth there is no turning backwards.

When war is upheld as a humanitarian endeavor, Justice and the entire international legal system are turned upside down pacifism and the antiwar movement are criminalized.

Opposing the war becomes a criminal act.

The Lie must be exposed for what it is and what it does.

It sanctions the indiscriminate killing of men, women and children.

It destroys families and people.

It destroys the commitment of people towards their fellow human beings.

It prevents people from expressing their solidarity for those who suffer.

It upholds war and the police state as the sole avenue.

It destroys both nationalism and internationalism.

Breaking the lie means breaking a criminal project of global destruction, in which the quest for profit is the overriding force.

This profit driven military agenda destroys human values and transforms people into unconscious zombies.

Let us reverse the tide.

Challenge the war criminals in high office and the powerful corporate lobby groups which support them.

Break the American inquisition.

Undermine the US-NATO-Israel military crusade.

Close down the weapons factories and the military bases.

Bring home the troops.

Members of the armed forces should disobey orders and refuse to participate in a criminal war.

CIA AND MOSSAD TOPPLED MUBARAK

Mubarak, who made Egypt more peaceful and more prosperous.
The CIA and Mossad have now toppled Mubarak.

Egypt: the new Haiti?

Both Aristide and Mubarak were accused of being corrupt.

Mubarak made Egypt peaceful and more prosperous.

Mubarak is very rich, but so also is the Bush family in the USA.

Most of the leaders in the Gulf region have made fortunes from their links to western companies.

Egypt has had torture, but so also has the USA the chief torturers work for the USA.

Toppling Saddam did not help Iraq.

Toppling the Shah did not help Iran.

The toppling of Mubarak has already done great damage to Egypt.

- * Growth may fall to as low as 1%
- * Big price rises
- * Investment outflows of up to $1 bln a day
- * Key tourism revenues take "big hit" (Egypt inflation to rise ...)

Many Egyptians supported Mubarak, particularly in the villages.

Mubarak defended Christians in Egypt, according to His Holiness Shenuda III', the Coptic Pope.

El Soryani is a Coptic Bishop and he strongly supports Mubarak
(EGYPT: COPTIC BISHOP: WE SUPPORT MUBARAK.)

In Alexandria people painted over anti-Mubarak graffiti. (Many In Egypt's Ancient Alexandria Support Mubarak : NPR)

One piece of graffiti that declared: The people want to try Mubarak, now reads: The people want Mubarak.

Some Alexandrians say they feared going outside because of pro-Mubarak bullies.

Cairo today, by Kodak Agfa

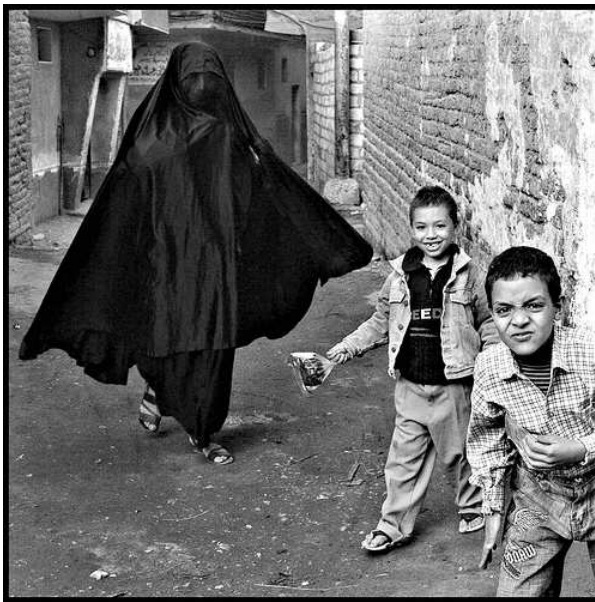

The protests have left the Egyptian economy in a shambles
"Today Giza is empty - and horse guides like Farag abu Ghanim, who has 25 employees and 35 horses, are in trouble.

"From where we feed our family?" asked Farag. 'And from where we feed these horses?'

"A horse costs almost $10 a day to feed - Farag has already gone into debt to pay for them.

Many more are like him - tourism accounts for one out of every ten jobs in Egypt...

"In central Cairo, shop owners like Abdul al-Sunni say their business is down 70 percent - he is not earning enough to feed his family."

What lies ahead for Egypt, if so called 'democratic' elections are held?

1. There could be a weak coalition government which may contain the CIA's Muslim Brotherhood. Rajab Hilal Hamida, a member of the Brotherhood in Egypt's parliament, has said: -

"From my point of view, Bin Ladin, al-Zawahiri and al-Zarqawi are not terrorists in the sense accepted by some. I support all their activities." (a Cautionary Note)

This Muslim Brotherhood guy is spouting CIA-Mossad propaganda intended to weaken countries like Egypt.

2. A new Egyptian president may quickly be undermined by acts of false flag terrorism, accusations of government corruption, and disputes with the military.

3. The majority of the Egyptian population will become MUCH poorer and there could be serious malnutrition.

The middle classes will lose some of their savings.

4. There is a risk that Israel will grab the Sinai.

There is a risk that Egypt will be balkanised.

5. Eventually a new leader may emerge.

He could be an American-trained general or even a member of the CIA's Muslim Brotherhood.

Indonesia had a CIA 'people power' revolution in 1998.

This was followed by years of dire poverty and much violence.

Now Indonesia is ruled by an American-trained general who once worked for Suharto.

Indonesia is now being invaded by a less-liberal form of Islam and the poor are still struggling.

Most of the 'corrupt' people are still in place - civil servants, police, judges, generals, businessmen and politicians.

Recent visitors to Indonesia have been George Soros and Nat Rothschild.

According to Irannewsnow (SNAP ANALYSIS: Elbaradei, The Muslim Brotherhood, and a Cautionary Note):

"After the 1979 revolution in Iran, the secularists and the various religious groups united to form a coalition government.

"Within a year, the Islamic Republic party (two of the members of which were Rafsanjani and Khamenei) completely took control and turned Iran into a totalitarian state in the guise of a so-called 'Islamic' republic that took away many of the hard-earned rights that Iranians had gained in the last century...

"I would like to remind people that when Khomeini came to Iran he promised freedom, democracy and human rights...

"In fact, one of the members of the Muslim Brotherhood, involved in the assassination of former liberal Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, is Ayman Al-Zawahiri, one of the leaders of Al Qaeda."

So, the CIA got rid of Sadat as well.

"During the height of the revolution in Iran in 79, the Islamists burned a cinema in Tehran full of people, massacring the people inside (The Rex Cinema Massacre).

"They were able to successfully blame the government of the Shah for this, and they leveraged the anger of the people to further their own position." (SNAP ANALYSIS: Elbaradei, The Muslim Brotherhood, and a Cautionary Note)

The 1979 toppling of the Shah was of course the work of the CIA.

(KHOMEINI - AN AGENT OF THE US AND UK GOVERNMENTS) ?

There are poor people in Egypt.

But, this photo shows Chicago in the USA.

Life expectancy in Egypt is 70.1 years, the same as in many parts of the USA.

Unemployment in Egypt is LOWER than in the USA.

Some figures (Egypt.):

1. Between 1980 and 2007 Egypt's Human Development Index (HDI) rose 42%.

2. Egypt's average annual HDI growth was 10th fastest worldwide and almost double the global average.

3. Between 2005 & 2008 Poverty, as defined by those living under $2/day, fell over 11%

4. Only 16% of the population now live on less than $2 per day.

5. The Gini Index, the international measure of wealth inequality, fell 7% between 1999 & 2007.

6. The share of the poorest 10% in national income rose 5% and the share of richest 10% fell 6% in the same period.

The ratio of the wealth of the richest to the poorest 10% also fell 10%.

Egypt has enjoyed economic growth averaging 4%–5% over the past 25 years.

The Egyptian economy was expected to grow at 6.1% in 2010/11. (Egypt - African Economic Outlook)

"Egypt held up well during the first round of the global financial crisis thanks to its reformed banking sector and low integration into global financial markets as a whole." (Egypt - African Economic Outlook)
